Volume XXV:2 (November / Novembre 1996)

L’enseignement en science politique / Teaching in Political Science
The Practice of Political Science/ La pratique de la science politique
Research Grants / Subventions de recherche
Around the Departments / Dans les départements
Job Opportunities / Offres d’emploi
Rencontres scientifiques et appels de manuscrits / Scientific Meetings and Calls for Papers

Publisher / Éditeur
Association canadienne de science politique
The Canadian Political Science Association

Co-Editor / Co-Directrice
Claire Turenne Sjolander
Department of Political Science
University of Ottawa, Ottawa, Ontario K1N 6N5
Telephone: 613-562-5800, ext. 1582 / Fax: 613-562-5106
E-mail: cturenne@uottawa.ca

Co-Directeur / Co-Editor
Gilles Labelle
Département de science politique
Université d’Ottawa, Ottawa, Ontario K1N 6N5
Téléphone: 613-562-5800, poste 1718 / Télécopieur: 613-562-5106

Information / Renseignements
CPSA/ACSP
Telephone/Téléphone: 613-564-4026 / Fax/Télécopieur: 613-230-2746
E-mail/Courrier électronique: cpsa@cycor.ca
ADVERTISING IN THE BULLETIN

Readership: 1600 plus Every member mailing

Prices:
1 page: $300.00
1/2 page: $200.00
1/4 page: $150.00

Deadlines:
April 1 (for May 15)
October 1 (for November 15)

Size: 8 1/2" x 11" (full page). Camera-ready material only
GST # R118835289

Other space arrangements possible at negotiated price. Please enquire to:
Michelle Hopkins, Executive Secretary, Canadian Political Science Association, Suite 205, 1 Stewart Street, Ottawa, Ontario K1N 6H7

PUBLICITÉ DANS LE BULLETIN

Diffusion: 1600 copies et plus Envoi individuel aux membres

Prix:
1 page: $300.00
1/2 page: $200.00
1/4 page: $150.00

Échéancier:
1er avril (pour numéro de mai)
1er octobre (pour numéro de novembre)

Format: 8 1/2" x 11". Prêt à photocopier uniquement
TPS # R118835289

Autres types d'arrangements possibles. S.V.P. contacter: Michelle Hopkins, Responsable administrative, Association canadienne de science politique, 1 rue Stewart, suite 205, Ottawa, Ontario, K1N 6H7
FROM THE EDITORS / UN MOT DE LA RÉDACTION

With the November 1996 issue, the editorship of the Bulletin passes to a new team -- Claire Turenne Sjolander and Gilles Labelle of the University of Ottawa. We are both pleased and somewhat intimidated to be taking over responsibility for the Association’s newsletter, and only hope that we can maintain the high standards set for us by David Siegel of Brock University, Bulletin editor for 1995-96, and Gordon Mace of l’Université Laval before him.

Il faut dire que nous avons pu compter pour la réalisation de ce numéro sur l’excellent travail de Lawrence Peck, étudiant à la maîtrise que le Département de science politique de l’Université d’Ottawa nous a généreusement permis d’embaucher. Merci au Département et à Larry!

You will note some minor changes to the format of the Bulletin. We are introducing a new column on “cyberpolitics” which we hope to make a recurring feature. In this issue, François-Pierre Gingras details some of the exciting innovations he has been able to bring to his teaching with the application of multimedia tools. In future issues, we hope to include annotated lists of interesting and useful Internet sites which will keep us up to date on the developments in, and the research and teaching potential of, cyberspace.

Claire Turenne Sjolander
Gilles Labelle
Université d’Ottawa

CONTENTS / SOMMAIRE

FROM THE PRESIDENT / LE MOT DE LA PRÉSIDENTE .................................................... 45
REPORT ON THE 1996 CPSA PROGRAM AT BROCK UNIVERSITY .......................................... 49
NOTICE TO 1997 LEARNED SOCIETIES ANNUAL MEETING PARTICIPANTS / AVIS AUX PARTICIPANTS DE LA RÉUNION ANNUELLE 1997 DES SOCIÉTÉS SAVANTES ........................................... 51
L’ENSEIGNEMENT EN SCIENCE POLITIQUE / TEACHING IN POLITICAL SCIENCE ................. 51

L’enseignement multimédia

THE PRACTICE OF POLITICAL SCIENCE/ LA PRATIQUE DE LA SCIENCE POLITIQUE

Interdisciplinarity in Practice: The Pitfalls and the Promise ........................................... 54

RESEARCH GRANTS / SUBVENTIONS DE RECHERCHE ..................................................... 57
AROUND THE DEPARTMENTS / DANS LES DÉPARTEMENTS ............................................ 60
JOB OPPORTUNITIES / OFFRES D’EMPLOI .................................................................. 64
RENCONTRES SCIENTIFIQUES ET APPELS DE MANUSCRITS / SCIENTIFIC MEETINGS AND CALLS FOR PAPERS ................................................................. 68
IN THE JOURNALS / DANS LES REVUES ..................................................................... 76
ANNOUNCEMENTS / ANNONCES DIVERSES ................................................................. 86

CPSA WWW HOMEPAGE / PAGE INTERNET DE L’ACSP ................................................... 90
FROM THE PRESIDENT / LE MOT DE LA PRÉSIDENTE

The purpose of this column, which appears regularly in the Bulletin, is to update the members on the news of the Association. I am very pleased to report that the CPSA is in good financial health, despite the cutbacks being experienced throughout the university and research communities. Two pieces of good news stand out in particular. Our application to the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada for support for the Canadian Journal of Political Science was successful in 1995-96, as was our application for funding of travel grants. That we can look to the future with some optimism is due in large measure to the substantial contributions made by members of the Association to its everyday functioning as well as its major public activities.

In the last six months there have been several changes in the ranks of those responsible for these activities. We have a new editorial team at the head of the Journal: Professors Christopher Manfredi, T.V. Paul and Antonia Maioni for the English side and Professors François Rocher and Diane Éthier for the French. In addition, the Bulletin has been taken on by two new editors, Professors Claire Turenne Sjoland and Gilles Labelle. I would like to take this opportunity to thank these members of the Association for their hard work and McGill University and the University of Ottawa for the significant support they are giving these two teams. I would also like to acknowledge the continued support of the Administrative Editor, Professor John McMenemy of Wilfrid Laurier University.

The Trust Fund of the CPSA is another institution which plays an important role in supporting the activities of the Association. In June 1996 Professor Fred Fletcher retired as Chairman and Dr. Peter Meekison has agreed to direct the Trust Fund. Many thanks to Fred for his hard work, and welcome aboard Peter. I know that Peter has some innovative plans for increasing the Trust Fund, so no doubt many of you will be hearing from him or his trustees. If you are approached, I hope you will remember the role that the Fund plays in enabling the Association to engage in special events and underwrite particular projects.

It's not too soon to begin marking your calendars for the new century! The CPSA, in conjunction with the Société québécoise de science politique, made a successful application to the International Political Science Association and we will be sponsoring the IPSA World Congress in 2000. It will be held in Quebec City on July 28 - August 6. Congratulations and thanks to Professors Guy Lachapelle of Concordia University and John Trent of the University of Ottawa who put together the impressive submission to the IPSA Council.

Another calendar matter: Even though the holiday season is still ahead of us, it is not too early to think about reserving flights and lodging for the 1997 Annual Meeting which will be at the Memorial University of Newfoundland from June 8 to June 10. Professor Stephen Tomblin and his Programme Committee have put together an exciting set of sessions. Transportation and lodging spaces are limited, however, so be sure to plan ahead. The Lerneds organisers are fully installed on the information highway, with a Web Site at http://www.mun.ca/ige/CPSA.html. I will also take this opportunity to remind you of the CPSA's own recent communication efforts. Our Homepage is available for consultation at http://www.sfu.ca/ige/CPSA.html. In particular, you can now find a copy of the up-dated Careers for Political Scientists prepared for the Association by Professor Leslie Pal. If you prefer to consult the guide in a more traditional way, copies are available in the offices of all Political Science departments or upon request from the Secretariat. Finally, the new edition of the Directory of Political Scientists in Canada is available (price: $20) by contacting the Secretariat.

All of these documents represent the hard work of many members of the Association. Particular thanks go to Les Pal for Careers for Political Scientists and Michael Howlett of Simon Fraser, who manages the Homepage. Of course, the Secretariat is also crucial to all this. Therefore, I want to take this opportunity to acknowledge the contribution of John Armstrong, who ably filled Michelle Hopkins' position while she was on maternity leave. Michelle is now back at her desk and on December 16 Marc Ronald Hopkins will be one year old!

I am also pleased to announce that the Board of Directors has decided to ask the membership to approve a constitutional amendment which will add a seat on the Board for a Graduate Student Liaison starting in June 1998. You will be asked to vote on this amendment at the Annual General Meeting in St. John's.

In my six months as President I have already heard from several members of the CPSA with suggestions for improving our activities. Such expressions of interest by members are most welcome. You can always reach me at jensonj@ere.umontreal.ca if you wish to make a suggestion about any matter which you think the Association should consider. At the three meetings of the Board of Directors during the coming year as well as the Chairs’ Meeting (which will take place in Montreal on February 7-8, 1997), we have ample opportunity to consider suggestions. I look forward to hearing from you.

• • • • •

On ne peut pas négliger le rôle du Fonds de prévoyance de l’ACSP dans la réalisation des activités de l’Association. En juin 1996, le professeur Fred Fletcher a dû quitter son poste de président, et Peter Meekison a pris la relève. Merci beaucoup Fred et soyez le bienvenu Peter. Je sais que ce dernier a quelques projets innovateurs à proposer pour faire grandir le fonds, de sorte que vous ne tarderez probablement pas à entendre de lui ou de ses fiduciaires. S’ils communiquent avec vous, n’oubliez pas que c’est le Fonds de prévoyance qui permet à l’Association de participer à des événements spéciaux et de souscrire à des projets particuliers.

Sortez votre agenda du prochain millénaire, des activités se dessinent déjà à l’horizon! L’Association internationale de science politique a accepté la proposition que lui avait adressée l’ACSP en collaboration avec la Société québécoise de science politique; nous accueillerons donc du 28 juillet au 6 août, à Québec, le Congrès mondial de l’AISP de l’an 2000. Je tiens à féliciter et à remercier les professeurs Guy Lachapelle de l’Université Concordia et John Trent de l’Université d’Ottawa qui ont préparé l’imposante soumission remise au Conseil de l’AISP.

Autre événement à retenir: les Fêtes ne sont pas encore passées, mais il ne faudrait pas tarder à faire vos réservations d’avion et d’hôtel en prévision de l’assemblée générale annuelle de 1997 qui aura lieu du 8 au 10 juin à la Memorial University of Newfoundland. Le professeur Stephen Tomblin et les membres de son comité d’organisation ont préparé des séances qui vous passionneront. Soyez prévoyants, car le nombre de places dans les avions et à l’hôtel est limité. Les organisateurs du Congrès des sociétés savantes ont leur site sur l’inforoute: http://www.mun.ca/learneds/.

Tous ces documents ont été produits grâce au travail remarquable de nombreux membres de l’Association. Il convient ici de remercier Leslie Pal, responsable du guide des Possibilités de carrière des politologues, et Michael Howlett de la Simon Fraser University, qui gère la production de notre page d’accueil, sans oublier évidemment notre secrétariat pour son précieux concours. Je profite de cette tribune pour souligner le travail de John Armstrong qui a remplacé avec beaucoup de compétences Michelle Hopkins pendant la durée de son congé de maternité. Mme Hopkins est de retour au bureau, et le 16 décembre prochain Marc Ronald Hopkins soufflera sa première bougie!

Je suis également heureuse de vous annoncer que le Bureau de direction a décidé de proposer aux membres d’approuver un amendement constitutionnel ajoutant un conseiller au Bureau de direction responsable de la liaison aux Affaires étudiantes. Le mandat de cette personne débutera en juin 1998. Vous serez appelé à voter cet amendement à l’Assemblée générale annuelle à St. John’s.

Six mois se sont écoulés depuis mon accession à la présidence de l’Association et j’ai déjà reçu de plusieurs membres de l’ACSP des propositions afin d’améliorer nos activités. N’hésitez pas à me communiquer vos suggestions sur n’importe quel sujet susceptible d’intéresser l’Association. Vous pouvez me rejoindre à l’adresse électronique suivante: jensonj@ere.umontreal.ca. Aux trois réunions du conseil d’administration pendant l’année et à la réunion des directeurs de départements (à Montréal les 7 et 8 février 1997), nous aurons tout le loisir d’examiner vos suggestions. Au plaisir de recevoir vos nouvelles.

---

REPORT ON THE 1996 CPSA PROGRAM AT BROCK UNIVERSITY, JUNE 2-4

William Mathie (Brock)
Chair Program Committee

The Committee

A couple of months before the 1995 Meeting in Montreal after consultation with colleagues from the several subdisciplines I was able to put together a program committee made up of distinguished and able representatives.

As may be noted in the table that follows, two changes in the structure of the committee were made after discussion within the committee. Public law was separated from public policy with which it had been previously paired, and public policy and administration were merged. In our view, this better reflected the actual scholarly interests of colleagues in the area. The change was not seen as implying any reduction or increase in the number of papers in either of the two new sections. The new arrangement seems to have worked well. Because a new committee begins its work before the previous program has been completed, the structure of the committee tends to be perpetuated without much thought given to how well it reflects the actual interests and work of political scientists. The two changes we made did result from a review of this question, but I cannot say that it was as thorough a review as might be desired.

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Canadian Politics</td>
<td>Garth Stevenson (Brock)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comparative Politics-Developing</td>
<td>David Black (Dalhousie)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comparative Politics-Industrialized</td>
<td>Maureen Mancuso (Guelph)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Relations</td>
<td>Andrew Cooper (Waterloo)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Political Economy</td>
<td>Caroline Andrew (Ottawa)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Provincial Politics</td>
<td>Brian Tanguay (Laurier)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Political Behaviour</td>
<td>André Blais (Montréal)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Political Theory</td>
<td>Rick Myers (St. Thomas)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Local Politics</td>
<td>David Siegel (Brock)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Public Administration/Policy</td>
<td>Barbara Carroll (McMaster)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Law and Politics</td>
<td>Janet Hiebert (Queen’s)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plenary Sessions</td>
<td>Jennifer Smith (Dalhousie)/William Mathie (Brock)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Local Arrangements</td>
<td>Terry Carroll (Brock)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The New Format

Shortly after I was named to chair the 96 committee I was petitioned by a senior colleague to consider a modification of the format that had become traditional by now: two morning and two afternoon slots with most taken up with three and sometimes four or more papers. It was argued that this had intellectual and practical disadvantages. Often what linked the papers was tenuous and finding that link distorted the efforts of commentators. Discussion was likely to ignore at least one of the three papers in a typical session and the paper neglected was not necessarily the least deserving of discussion. Participants in the conference were often forced to choose between two papers of equal interest where each had by chance been linked with others of less interest.
At its first meeting the committee agreed to alter our format in light of these objections. We agreed to plan for four morning sessions of slightly less than an hour's duration and two longer afternoon sessions (except on the afternoon of the Annual General Meeting). The afternoon sessions we expected to generally be organized as round tables or workshops or, where clearly justified, multipaper sessions. We agreed to announce this change to our members and to reformulate the call for papers to suit this new format. We realized that this would entail a small reduction in the number of slots for papers, and therefore increase the prospect of rejected proposals especially if this and other efforts resulted in more participation by senior members of the fields. Most members of the committee agreed to this format change because they thought it important to strengthen the extent of the intellectual community between our colleagues at our annual meetings, including our most junior and senior colleagues.

In fact, we were able to implement the new program without too much difficulty. Paper proposals and round table suggestions more or less accorded with the new scheme. In a few cases something like the old format was restored by placing thematically linked papers in subsequent sessions in the same room and sometimes even with the same commentator. Even here we got some of the advantages of the new system--greater freedom of choice for those attending and more or less equal opportunities for discussion of the papers.

A small difficulty reported by some section heads was that of finding enough commentators for the larger number of sessions. For the most part this was solved by asking the same person to act as chair and discussant and by recruiting paper givers to serve in this role in sessions other than their own. Another occasional difficulty was the tendency of paper givers to take so long in presentation that little time was left for discussion. A clearer guideline and warning to paper givers and heavier gavel in the hands of chairs seems likely to help overcome this problem. Another problem was that the withdrawal of a presenter meant the end of a session but this had some advantages for the program as a whole.

What were the results of the new format and how was it received? So far as I can tell from the written and oral comments I have received the new arrangement was much preferred. In fact, I have heard from very few who thought it a failure. About 65% of those in attendance at the meeting were faculty and there was a good mixture of faculty and graduate students presenting papers. In many though not all fields, a significant number of proposals was rejected and a few angry colleagues--senior ones, as it happens--were heard from.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th># Single Paper Sessions</th>
<th>Avg Attd</th>
<th># Panels</th>
<th>Avg Attd</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cdn</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>16.5</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>13.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comp. Dev.</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>9.6</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>17.8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comp. Indust.</td>
<td>17</td>
<td>12.4</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IR</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>12.5</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Local</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>9.6</td>
<td>Field Trip/Panel</td>
<td>11/6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Behav.</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>28.8</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pol. Econ.</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>21.9</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pol. Theory</td>
<td>24</td>
<td>14</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prov.</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>14</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>15.3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pub. Admin./ Policy</td>
<td>19</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>16.8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Law</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>19.6</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Attendance

We had about 460 registered delegates of whom 160 were students. Given the proximity to various other campuses it is likely that some attended without registering. In past years we have been unable to get statistics on attendance at individual sessions despite the effort put into this task by section heads. Through the assistance of David Penner, an industrious and able graduate student at Brock who helped out at various stages in the development of the program we were able to get attendance figures for almost every session. In calculating average session size above I have included only the sessions for which I have numbers, while also indicating the total number of sessions.
Prizes

The program committee and CPSA Board agreed to establish a prize of $250 for the best paper submitted by a graduate student. Papers were nominated by section heads and assessed by a jury made up of the chairs of the 96 and 97 committees, as well as Jennifer Smith, who was an organizer of plenary sessions, and Terry Carroll, who looked after local arrangements. This year's winner was Tom Bateman of the University of Alberta, who is now on faculty at Augustana College. A prize for the best paper in comparative politics at the 95 meetings went to Deborah Van Nijnatten. Both prizes were awarded at the President's Dinner as part of an effort to enhance the significance of the event.

Plenaries

The panel on political correctness called "Teaching Political Science in the 90s" and the post-referendum panel were both well attended and apparently well received. A few complained about the fact that what was heard was not heard for the first time and one suggestion was aired that seems worth reporting: that the responsibility for "the plenary," or "a plenary" if we have more than one, be circulated among the various sections so that IR or theory or comparative etc. would have the task of developing a session focusing on issues within their area but important to political scientists in general.

Evaluation

The attempt to get an evaluation of the conference from participants was less successful than we had hoped and I am not sure how this could be done better. This should be kept in mind in assessing what I have said above about the new format, though on this issue I did generally receive reports on opinion within the various sections from the section heads. The grid-like version of the program we developed this year seems to have been quite popular. It is my hope that the publication of this report in the Bulletin will provoke further discussion of how we might improve the program.

NOTICE TO 1997 LEARNED SOCIETIES
ANNUAL MEETING PARTICIPANTS /
AVIS AUX PARTICIPANTS DE LA RÉUNION
ANNUELLE 1997 DES SOCIÉTÉS SAVANTES

First, 1997 will be a difficult year in which to secure tourist accommodation in St. John's because of the Cabot 500 celebrations. The Learned Societies meetings will take place during June, which is a busy tourist month even during ordinary years. The Learned Secretariat has booked blocks of rooms in most hotels, B and Bs and university residences (check URL: http://www.mun.ca/learns/) for Learned delegates so participants should be able to plan their stay now. Participants should mention the Learned Societies Conference, however, or they may be told that nothing is available even when rooms remain in our block-booking.

Second, The Learned Secretariat plans to send registration materials only to those persons who request them. The Secretariat can be reached at learned@morgan.ucs.mun.ca or at Memorial University of Newfoundland, St. John's, NF, A1C 5S7, telephone: (709) 737-4360, fax: (709) 737-4449.

* * * *

D'abord, l'année 1997 risque d'être extrêmement problématique au point de vue de l'hébergement des touristes à St. John's. En outre, le congrès des sociétés savantes se déroulera au mois de juin, depuis longtemps l'un des plus affectionnés par les touristes. Le secrétariat des Sociétés savantes a fait mettre de côté le maximum de chambres dans les résidences universitaires, les hôtels et les auberges (voir URL: http://www.mun.ca/learns/) donc les participants pourront en principe réserver dès maintenant leur séjour. Ils doivent cependant préciser le nom du congrès au moment du contact pour en profiter.

Deuxièmement, le secrétariat des Sociétés savantes enverra un dossier d'inscription qu'aux personnes qui en auront demandé un. Veuillez commander votre dossier au learned@morgan.ucs.mun.ca ou à la Memorial University of Newfoundland, St. John's, T-N, A1C 5S7, téléphone: (709) 737-4360, télécopieur: (709) 737-4449.

L'ENSEIGNEMENT EN SCIENCE POLITIQUE /
TEACHING IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

L'ENSEIGNEMENT MULTIMÉDIA

François-Pierre Gingras
Département de science politique
Université d'Ottawa

J'ai dit adieu à la poussière de craie! Fini pour moi le temps des pattes de mouche sur des acétates moches!

Désormais, quelle que soit la matière que j'enseigne (partis et élections, politique provinciale, méthodologie...), non seulement j'évoque (avec ma voix et mes gestes), mais j'illustre (avec des images) dans une approche complètement intégrée où l'ordinateur et la magnétophone déléguent sans regret le tableau (noir ou vert) et le rétroprojecteur. Je suis au royaume de l'infopédagogie ou, si vous préférez, de l'enseignement multimédia.

Si vous voulez en savoir plus, appuyez sur ENTRÉE. Sinon, appuyez sur ÉCHAPPEMENT.

Qu'est ce que l'enseignement multimédia?

Dans l'enseignement assisté par ordinateur, on illustre l'enseignement magistral avec des vignettes informatisées entreposées dans un ordinateur. Ces vignettes peuvent être fixes (des "diaspectives numériques") ou animées (des "clips vidéo"). L'ordinateur peut être un portatif que vous trainez avec vous, un ordinateur installé de façon permanente dans une salle de classe, ou encore un ordinateur éloigné accessible depuis un terminal situé dans la salle de classe.

L'enseignement assisté par ordinateur est l'une des composantes de l'enseignement multimédia. L'autre principale composante est le magnétophone, mais on inclut aussi le projecteur de diapositives, le projecteur 16mm ou 35mm, le retroprojecteur, le tableau électronique et plusieurs appareils moins répandus.

J'ai adopté l'enseignement multimédia parce qu'il met à ma disposition une grande variété d'outils pédagogiques. Vous limiterez-vous au "bouche à oreille" pour vous renseigner sur la politique? Non! Vous lisez les journaux,écoutez la radio et regardez la télévision! Pourquoi nos étudiants et étudiantes seraient-ils réduits à s'abrever de nos seules paroles quand la technologie actuelle permet une diversité de moyens de communication pour atteindre nos objectifs pédagogiques en salle de classe?

L'enseignement multimédia vise, pour l'essentiel, à favoriser la compréhension de la matière et la réflexion en permettant aux étudiants et étudiantes de mieux visualiser chacun des éléments que je trouve pertinents de leur présenter dans une leçon. L'ordinateur ne me remplace pas : il ajoute une autre dimension à mon enseignement. Même chose pour le magnétophone.

Préparation d'une leçon multimédia

Préparez-vous un cours multimédia de la même façon qu'un cours magistral traditionnel? La question est mal posée parce qu’il y a plusieurs façons de préparer un cours magistral traditionnel: certains ruminent longuement la matière mais arrivent en classe sans note écrite, d'autres rédigent littéralement leur leçon mot à mot. Pour un enseignement multimédia efficace, il faut avoir un plan assez précis de ce qu'on veut communiquer aux étudiants et étudiantes; en général, on prépare d'avance un "module" auquel on fait appel en classe, qu'il s'agisse d'un diaporama informatisé ou d'un enregistrement vidéo. Contrairement à ce qu'on pense parfois, l'enseignement multimédia laisse passablement de flexibilité dans l'enseignement, encore qu'il restreigne les possibilités d'improvisation à la dernière minute. En d'autres mots, pas question de préparer votre leçon alors que vous êtes pris dans la circulation du matin en route vers l'université...

Il faut d'abord faire le plan détaillé de la leçon, avec une nomenclature des éléments que l'on désire communiquer. Pour chaque notion, on conçoit ensuite une ou plusieurs vignettes informatisées, avec des éléments textuels (mots-clés, citations...) et des éléments graphiques (dessins, photographies, cartes géographiques ou autres images). Les éléments graphiques sont soit dessinés à l'aide d'un logiciel spécialisé, soit numérisés avec un balayeur optique (scanner), soit copiés d'un site Internet. On peut aussi, pendant la leçon, accéder à un site Internet.

Prenons, par exemple, dans le cadre de mon cours sur la politique en Ontario, la leçon sur les origines du parlementarisme dans cette province. On peut consacrer plusieurs vignettes informatisées à ce thème, sans compor l'exploration de l'Internet et la diffusion d'extraits d'enregistrements vidéo :

1. Citation de la Proclamation royale de 1763 où il est question de faire élire une assemblée quand on le jugera opportun. Dans un coin de la vignette, on voit le portrait du roi George III (copié d'un site Internet).

2. Résumé des raisons pour lesquelles cette assemblée ne voit pas le jour tant que les Canadiens (catholiques de langue française) demeurent majoritaires dans l'ensemble du territoire de la colonie.

3. Carte de l'immigration loyaliste de 1775 à 1784. Cette carte est tirée d'un manuel d'histoire.

5. Résumé des revendications des marchands britanniques établis depuis la Conquête et des loyalistes arrivés de plus fraîche date en faveur de l'élection d'une assemblée.

6. Carte de l'évolution démographique de la colonie de 1763 à 1791. Cette carte est basée sur une carte d'époque copiée d'un site Internet, sur laquelle j'ai surimposé des diagrammes en bâtonnets de couleur pour représenter les changements démographiques; un bon logiciel et un peu de pratique suffisent à produire des petites merveilles!

7. Résumé des motifs amenant la Couronne britannique à diviser la colonie en Bas-Canada à majorité franco-catholique et Haut-Canada à majorité anglo-protestante.

8. Accès direct à l'Internet au site "Voici l'Ontario: Histoire" au http://www.gov.on.ca/MBS/french/its_ontario/ont-hist/10.html. Ce site porte sur la création du Haut-Canada; on y trouve des liens vers diverses images dont il s'agit de juger de la pertinence en fonction de l'intérêt exprimé par les étudiants et étudiantes du temps disponible; mais attention! la digression est facile! On peut aborder aussi bien à une illustration d'époque du deuxième assemblée législative réunie à Niagara-on-the-Lake en 1792, qu'à une carte géographique des colonies Britanniques nord-américaines à cette même époque ou encore au portrait de Simcoe, premier lieutenant-gouverneur du Haut-Canada.

9. Organigramme décrivant les structures de l'administration coloniale dans le Haut-Canada mises en place par l'Acte constitutionnel de 1791.

10. Illustration d'époque montrant le premier parlement du Haut-Canada à York (Toronto). Il s'agit d'une image copiée d'un site Internet, en l'occurrence la photothèque Canadisk du Rescol (réseau scolaire) canadien: http://www.schoolnet.ca/cdisk/

11. Résumé des intérêts défendus par les partisans d'un pouvoir exécutif fort.

13. Résumé des intérêts défendus par les partisans de la primauté de l'assemblée.

Et ainsi de suite...

Au moment opportun, on peut présenter des extraits d'enregistrements vidéo sur la rébellion réformiste dans le Haut-Canada en 1838 ou sur les parallèles à établir entre les rébellions dans le Haut et le Bas-Canada. Une cassette de 29 minutes produite par Radio-Canada (émission Le Point) porte précisément sur cet aspect.

Pour réussir une leçon assistée par ordinateur

Que faut-il pour réaliser une présentation réussie? Certaines qualités personnelles, des ressources matérielles et beaucoup de temps.

Les qualités? De l'imagination et de l'inspiration, le goût du risque et de l'innovation, de la patience et de la persévérance, de l'enthousiasme et une certaine débrouillardise technique.

Les ressources matérielles minimales? Pour préparer une présentation informatisée, il faut un ordinateur assez puissant avec pas mal de mémoire vive et relié à l'Internet; un logiciel de présentation comme Microsoft PowerPoint et un balayeur optique (scanner) en couleur (de préférence un modèle de table). Un logiciel de traitement de l'image (celui que j'utilise est gratuit) permet d'améliorer la qualité visuelle des images chargées depuis l'Internet ou numérisées au balayeur optique.

Pour présenter en classe votre cours assisté par ordinateur, il faut une salle de classe bien branchée avec de l'équipement et des logiciels compatibles avec ceux que vous avez utilisés pour la préparation de la leçon.

La réaction étudiante? Enthousiaste, si je la juge d'après la réaction à mes cours. En réalité, elle est si enthousiaste que, dans mes séminaires de fin de premier cycle, la moitié des "exposés oraux" se font maintenant avec PowerPoint et les vidéos tournées et montés par les étudiants et étudiantes n'ont plus rien d'exceptionnel. Un groupe à même produit un vidéo de 30 minutes sur "le droit de vote au Canada" de si bonne qualité que je l'ai utilisé dans un autre cours!

Vous aimeriez jugez-vous-même du résultat? Pourquoi ne pas assister à un cours multimédia offert par quelque collègue de votre faculté? Informez-vous! Et puis, vous êtes toujours les bienvenus dans mes cours!
THE PRACTICE OF POLITICAL SCIENCE/
LA PRATIQUE DE LA SCIENCE POLITIQUE

INTERDISCIPLINARITY IN PRACTICE: THE PITFALLS AND THE PROMISE

Heather A. Smith
International Studies Programme
University of Northern British Columbia

In the November 1995 volume of this Bulletin, Steven Bernstein argued that in light of the fundamental changes taking place in the world we would do well to rethink the discipline of political science. His article, drawn from a lecture series at the University of Toronto, concludes that political science "has not kept up with the changes in the real world of politics" and that "if we are to meet the challenges... [of] relevance, interdisciplinarity, and openness -- then well considered change in departments and programs is essential".¹

These conclusions strike me as both accurate and, as the author notes, controversial. The rethinking of political science in the direction outlined above will not be without its critics. As Bernstein notes, we are dealing with power structures and disciplinary boundaries. Regardless of external events and internal introspection, the challenges facing political science are significant. This is particularly true if we focus on one of the challenges noted above: interdisciplinarity.

The point of this discussion is not to reconsider the philosophy of interdisciplinarity, as it has been addressed by Bernstein. Rather, I wish to focus on interdisciplinarity in practice, recognizing that philosophy and practice are closely intertwined. My focus stems from the fact I am a member of an institution, the University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC), that has made a commitment to interdisciplinarity. Moreover, while I am trained as a political scientist, specializing in International Relations (IR), I am a member of a programme, International Studies (IS), which carries an interdisciplinary designation.

Thus, the first section of this piece will describe how UNBC has incorporated interdisciplinarity into the university structure. It will be seen that the commitment to interdisciplinarity is given expression in the university structure, the teaching and research of the faculty, and in the composition of the student body, particularly at the graduate level. The second section will address some of the obstacles faced when one is part of an interdisciplinary programme. It will become evident that, in spite of the institutional commitment, interdisciplinarity has been, and continues to be, difficult to operationalize. Yet, as the final section will reveal, we need not forego the promise of interdisciplinarity for the very attempt to be interdisciplinary in our teaching and research can transform political science, conceptually and practically.

¹ Steven Bernstein, "Re-thinking the Political", Canadian Political Science Association Bulletin, XXXIV:2 (November 1995), p. 84.

The Institutionalization of Interdisciplinarity

When UNBC was officially opened in 1992, students, staff and faculty entered what the founders had envisioned to be both a university for the North and the “first university of the twenty-first century”. It was anticipated that UNBC would be distinct from the traditional conceptions of “the university” and a central element of that distinction would be interdisciplinarity.

The commitment to interdisciplinarity has many faces, some tangible and obvious and others less so. In terms of structure, a number of elements are significant. First, our basic academic units are “programmes” instead of “departments”. This is representative of the attempt to break away from the traditional notion of how a university is organized and also evidence that “language” and “labels” play an important role in defining ourselves as distinct. Second, the academic appointments are made to Faculties, not to programmes. The logic is that individuals are hired because they have the skills to cross programme boundaries and as such can teach in a variety of areas. Third, there are a number of “non-traditional” programmes which are dedicated to interdisciplinarity. They include International Studies, Gender Studies, First Nations Studies, Environmental Studies, and Northern Studies. Finally, we have undergone a review of our graduate programmes and as a result we have proposals for new and revised graduate programmes, many of which, emphasizing interdisciplinarity, are offered jointly across programmes. These proposed graduate programmes are designed to respond to the challenges of relevance, interdisciplinarity and openness, identified by Bernstein, while at the same time responding to the fiscal considerations faced by all universities.

The structure and design of the interdisciplinary programmes, such as International Studies, are also evidence of a commitment to “doing it differently”. International Studies, for example, offers both undergraduate and graduate programmes. Undergraduate students take classes which could be found in the IR stream of most political science departments across the country, however, the emphasis of the programme is on the delivery of courses that address non-traditional topics such as gender, globalization, or alternative meanings of security. Moreover, there is a regional focus on the circumpolar north and the Asia Pacific. This focus is a response to our location, the changing world scene and the need for cross cultural understanding. In addition, students must fulfill a language requirement and the language instructors are an integral component of the programme. Graduate students are drawn from diverse disciplines and the graduate programme is being designed to include the expertise of our Economics and Political Science colleagues. Yes, there is a Political Science programme at UNBC. While it focuses on “domestic” public policy and comparative politics, the fact that IS and Political Science faculty members regularly teach across programmes underscores the extent to which the domestic-international dichotomy is a fallacy.

Here then is the setting. It is designed to foster interdisciplinarity but, as will be seen in the next section, the appropriate setting is only one part of the equation. There remains the possibility of a return to more traditional notions of “the university”. This regression is the result of both internal dynamics and external perceptions and benchmarks.

The Pitfalls

Similar to many universities across the country, UNBC is undergoing an all encompassing restructuring exercise. One of the items up for discussion is changing the designation of academic units from “programmes” to “departments”. Some argue that there is confusion associated with the title “programme”. For example, we have an International Studies programme which is the academic unit and we have an Office of International Programmes which is charged with the administration related to international students and international exchanges. External perceptions are also considered a factor as those outside the university seek “departments” and find programmes. Thus the break with the tradition of referring to academic units as “departments” is seen as out of step with mainstream usage. How this issue is reconciled remains to be seen.

Academic appointments, which are supposed to provide for fluidity within and across faculties are also a point of contention. As student numbers grow and, in turn, teaching demands grow there is some reluctance among programme chairs and Deans to let “your” faculty member offer a course in another programme or another Faculty without assurance that your programme or Faculty is compensated adequately. This has been resolved, to some extent, by informal agreements. As a result, we continue to have individuals who teach across institutional boundaries.

Internal and external perceptions have also resulted in the tendency to try to pigeon-hole individuals into their disciplinary homes. Recently, International Studies and Political Science became one administrative unit. We have separate academic programmes, but we share a common chair and have common administrative meetings. While part of the reason for this combination was administrative convenience, there is also the internal perception that "well, you're all political scientists anyways". And, with the exception of one IS colleague who is a human geographer and the four language instructors, yes, the remaining five IS members are all trained as political scientists. This was a cost-saving move that has some logic but it has the potential of affecting the long term integrity of both programmes.

Research, while innovative, has also been subject to external perceptions of what is appropriate for a particular discipline. Colleagues have, at times, wondered aloud
"where exactly do I send this as it doesn't particularly fit with a standard political science journal?" Moreover, interdisciplinarity has some harsh critics as one faculty member found out upon receiving a referee's report suggesting that "this piece represents the dangers of interdisciplinarity".

Rethinking what we understand to be political science may be intellectually intriguing but there are those external to our discipline (and certainly some within) who do not welcome change. As Bernstein notes quite accurately, there are implications in terms of hiring decisions, and tenure and promotions. If you are being penalized externally for work that "doesn't quite fit", then it may just be easier to stay within the prescribed boundaries - at least until you're tenured!

The commitment to interdisciplinarity also affects students. Our undergraduates, similar to undergraduates across the country, worry about the value of an IS degree when they enter the job market. The degree does not have an identifiable label and consequently there are concerns about the response of potential employers. For graduate students, the concerns are a little different. We have graduate students from diverse backgrounds including history, classics, gender studies, computer science and law. Their concern, and that of the graduate instructors, is how to level the playing field in the classroom. It is, at times, a difficult task.

The Promise

Why bother to pursue interdisciplinarity? I think that one bothers because it does make a difference, but the difference does not come with whether you have programmes or departments or whether you are appointed to a programme or a faculty. Institutional support is more important and not to be underestimated. But, even if the labels and structures change, I hope that the institutional and grassroots commitments will remain. By grassroots I mean that the individuals hired at this university were hired because of their commitment to “doing it differently” and it must be understood that for many of us “doing it differently” means “innovative” and perhaps, by extension, “better”. And so, in spite of the possible institutional restructuring, that commitment remains.
The commitment remains because the promise of interdisciplinarity has revealed itself on many levels, despite the obstacles noted above.

Personally, I have been introduced to ideas and approaches that absolutely “de-center” the traditional precepts which have served as my intellectual foundation and I have been forced, for better or worse, to rethink my understanding of political science in rather radical ways.
It is a constant learning process that is both intellectually enriching and intensely frustrating.

I believe, however, that the promise of interdisciplinarity reveals itself most with our students. In a quick and unscientific survey of some of the International Studies undergraduates I have realized that they do not identify themselves as political scientists. Sometimes they say that they “do IR” but, they do not identify with a disciplinary label. They see International Studies as an amalgam of economics, political science, geography, language and culture. They are willing to embrace this approach in part because they have not been pigeon-holed. They have never been told they are political scientists and despite having instructors who were trained as political scientists they see themselves as interdisciplinary. And, they see themselves as having found a more satisfactory way to study the world.

Conclusion

My enthusiasm for interdisciplinarity is likely obvious.
But I do recognize that interdisciplinarity is difficult to achieve because it challenges conceptions of who we are and what we do. Doing it differently is frequently seen as not doing it better, but rather, as doing it worse. There is a strong tendency, even here at UNBC, to find comfort in the ways of "MFI" or my former institution. The barriers are hard to overcome and the boundaries are hard to redefine. Institutional commitment is integral to the practice of interdisciplinarity but even that can come under siege in times of fiscal restraint and restructuring.

Ultimately, and regardless of the institutional changes that may be forthcoming, I remain committed to the ideal of interdisciplinarity. For many of my colleagues and myself, and for our students, interdisciplinarity has forced us to see the world in a different way. And, if it turns out to have been a short lived experiment, then it was an experiment well worth the effort.

SSHRC RESEARCH GRANTS /
SUBVENTIONS DE RECHERCHE DU CRSH

Successful Projects in Political Science, Public Administration and Law (1996-1997)
Projets octroyés en science politique, administration publique et droit (1996-1997)

Law/Droit

William Bogart, Windsor
Legal consequences: the impact of the law and its complexities
$18,000

Andrée Lajoie, Guy Rocher, Montréal
Théories et émergence du droit
$89,000

Commercial & Company Law / Droit commercial et corporatif

Iain Ramsey, York
Bankruptcy and consumer credit in the declining welfare state: Canada in comparative context $26,000

Jacob Ziegel, Toronto
Canadian law of insolvency and receiverships
$42,000
Constitutional Law / Droit constitutionnel
Patrice Garant, Laval
Droit à la vie, à la sécurité, à la liberté, et conformité aux principes constitutionnels de justice fondamentale
$31,000

Jurisprudence / Jurisprudence
Luc Tremblay, Sherbrooke
Le fondement normatif des raisons justifiant les restrictions aux droits fondamentaux dans une société libre et démocratique et la constitution
$39,000

Political Science / Science politique
Donald Abelson, Western Ontario
The involvement and influence of policy experts in US presidential elections
$20,000

Jean-Pierre Beaud, Jean-Guy Prévost, UQAM
Définir, classer, dénombrer: le travail statistique et la constitution des espaces politico-cognitifs au Canada
$60,000

André Blais, Louis Massicotte, Montréal
Pourquoi et comment voter?
$103,000

Maxwell Cameron, Andrea Chandler, Carleton
Presidential coups d'états and regime change in presidential democracies: the Peruvian autogolpe in comparative perspective
$34,000

Linda Cardinal, Ottawa
La culture-politique des droits à l'égalité au Canada: une étude du programme de contestation judiciaire, 1985-1992
$27,000

John Courtney, Saskatchewan
Redefining representation: contrasting representational values in Canada's parliamentary system
$50,000

Bruce Doern, Carleton
Canadian industrial policy institutions in a globalizing context
$58,000

Fen Hampson, Carleton
Reassessing the regional option: a new role for regional organizations in international conflict management $43,000

Ronald Keith, Calgary
Rights and interests in China
$36,757

Masaru Kohno, British Colombia
Institutional incongruity and its political consequences: the case of Japan
$48,000

Henry Milner, Vanier College
Political participation, political institutions and socio-economic outcomes in industrial democracies
$43,000

Leslie Pal, Carleton
Nets, webs, and scapes: policy community dynamics in cyberspace
$39,000

David Smith, Saskatchewan
A republican option for Canada
$14,300

Elizabeth Smythe, Concordia College
Globalization and the myth of multilateralism: Canada and the negotiation of an international investment regime
$45,900

Comparative Politics / Politique comparée
Vincent Della Sala, Carleton
National state structures and economic interdependence
$21,000

Dickson Eyoh, Toronto
Reshaping the state: regionalism and political change in Cameroon $54,000

Liesbet Hooghe, Toronto
Inside the monolith: political orientations of senior officials in the European Commission $36,000

Paul Kingston, Toronto
The politics in non-governmental organizations in contemporary Lebanon
$38,000
Michael Lusztig, Western Ontario
Forced signalling and the limits of rent-seeking $30,086

Baldev Raj Nayar, McGill
Balancing globalization and economic nationalism: the politics of economic policy reform in India in the 1990s
$24,000

International Relations / Relations internationales

Robert Boardman, Dalhousie
Environmental discourse and international relations theory: redefining society, polity and governance
$33,000

David Carment, Carleton
The international dimensions of ethnic conflict: early warning systems and conflict prevention
$27,000

Christian Deblock, Dorval Brunelle, UQAM
Intégration continentale et régionale dans les Amériques
$60,000

Brian Job, Michael Wallace, British Colombia
Militarism and arms competition in the Asia Pacific region: theoretical and empirical analysis to assess the risks
$54,000

Ashok Kapur, Waterloo
Regional conflict formation and conflict resolution in the Asia-Pacific sphere: the case of South Asia and North Asia
$36,000

Louis Pauly, Toronto
The comparative and international politics of corporate control
$50,000

Denis Stairs, Dalhousie
Demos and international affairs: the Canadian case and the broader implications
$22,800

Michael Wallace, Peter Suedfeld, British Colombia
Evaluating leaders’ cognitive management strategies: relating the complexity of information processing to decisional environment and quality of outcome
$51,000

Marc Zacher, British Colombia
The conundrums of cooperation: global regimes and liberal theory
$59,000

Political Economy / Économie politique

Marc Lavoie, Mario Seccareccia, Ottawa
L’économie politique de la Banque du Canada
$24,000

Lynn Mytelka, Carleton
Locational tournaments: strategic partnerships and the State
$55,000

Political Parties, Election Studies / Partis politiques, études élctorales

Louis Massicotte, Montréal
Étude de la cohésion des partis politiques à la Chambre des Communes et des défaits gouvernementales depuis 1867
$40,000

Manon Tremblay, Ottawa; Réjean Pelletier, Laval
Les obstacles à l’élection de femmes à la chambres des communes du Canada: un examen du processus de sélection des candidatures
$47,000

Political Thought & Political Theory / Pensée & Théorie politiques

Edward Andrew, Toronto
Reason and conscience in the history of liberal thought
$35,000

Public Policy Studies / Analyse de politique

Frances Friskin, York
The municipal role in urban policy-making: a comparison of four cities in the greater Toronto area
$40,000
ACADIA UNIVERSITY

Announcements

The Atlantic Provinces’ Political Studies Association annual conference was held at Acadia University in Wolfville, Nova Scotia on the weekend of October 25-27, 1996. At this conference, Cynthia Alexander of Acadia’s Department of Political Science was elected as President of the Atlantic Political Studies Association for 1996-1997.

Under the general theme of “Order and Disorder,” approximately 100 scholars met in panel and roundtable sessions organized along three parallel tracks. Track One sessions offered participants an opportunity to tackle the general theme with issues ranging from, as Acadia political scientist Marsh Conley put it, “Plato to NATO.” Track Two sessions offered insights into the persistent and emerging political and policy issues arising in the “wired” world; participants from as far away as the University of Hawaii and California State University in Monterey Bay examined some of the implications of the rapid, widespread adoption of computer and other technologies. Dr. Tim Shaw, Director of the Centre for Foreign Policy Studies at Dalhousie University organized the Track Three sessions, in collaboration with the Pearson Peacekeeping Centre and with the assistance of Dr. Malcolm Grieve at Acadia. Keynote speakers included Dr. Ann Cavoukian, the Assistant Commissioner of the Ontario Information Privacy Commission and Dr. Alex Colville, the pre-eminent Canadian artist. Graduate and undergraduate students were involved throughout the conference activities, as observers and participants, as contributors to a special poster session, and as volunteers extraordinaire. Jackie Leppard from Dalhousie University was the recipient of the 1995 Larry Collins memorial prize essay winner. The conference co-chairs -- Agar Adamson, Cynthia Alexander, Malcolm Grieve, and Ian Stewart -- would like to thank the corporate and government sponsors and Acadia University for their financial contributions which made the conference a distinctly comprehensive event. Their appreciation is also extended to the battalion of student volunteers, to the Public Affairs Office at Acadia, and to Leanne Wells, the senior administrative secretary in the Political Science Department at Acadia. The conference website will be maintained and extended to facilitate communication between the conference participants and web-browsers “from away”: http://ace.acadiau.ca/polisci/appsa.htm. Watch for regular changes and updates! The 1997 APPSA meeting will be held at the University College of Cape Breton.

Also of note, some Acadia University political science students and faculty are already plugging in to the “new wired world.” Professors Marshall Conley and Cynthia Alexander are currently part of the first wave of the Acadia Advantage, a phased-in program begun in September 1996 that has faculty and students using computers in -- and outside -- the classroom. The new technology gives academics the opportunity to reconceptualize the way they teach and the way students learn. New information and communication flows within and beyond the walls of the classroom are being facilitated by the technology. Conley and Alexander took up the opportunity with very little start-up time... less than four months preparation set the course into cyberspace. With the assistance of the “Sandbox” team—a group of two academics and thirteen Acadia students “charged” to give technological support to faculty and students -- Conley and Alexander have created a cutting-edge introductory politics course. They are, for example, offering students an online self-test program and what is, perhaps, the world’s first online politics textbook companion using lateral map methodology and hyperlinked WWW sources. Students bring their IBM Thinkpads into the classroom, where they use the technology to customize for themselves their professors’ Powerpoint lectures, e-mail their in-class quiz responses, post and share their essays and computer-generated lateral map assignments on their own Webpages, among other projects. After class students supplement their office visits with e-mail communications to their professors; participate in online discussion seminar groups in preparation for weekly in-class debates; use the online self-test program, when they need to, where they prefer, and as often as necessary to learn the material; and use the course homepage media links to stay informed about news events. In the second term, Acadia students will participate in online discussions groups with their cohorts at Lethbridge University. Conley and Alexander invite you to your queries and recommendations. Web-browsers are invited to check out the course website: http://plato.acadiau.ca/courses/pols/conley/pols1006/1006out.htm

UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA

Appointments

Professor Jasine Brodie will take up the chairship of the department on January 1, 1997.
Doctoral theses

The Department has had quite a spate of doctoral completion/defenses over the past 6 months. Terry Kading (Comparative), Nicholas Gammer (IR), Patrick Wilson (Canadian/Public Policy), Duane Bratt (IR), Chris Kukucha (IR) will receive their degrees at the November convocation.

* * * * *

UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLOMBIA

Appointments

Barbara Arneil (Ph.D. London) is coming to teach in the area of gender and politics and political philosophy. She was most recently on the staff of the Hon. L. Axworthy.

On leave

A. Eisenberg (who will spend time in Ottawa and Edinburgh), G. Feaver, K. Harrison (on maternity leave with a new son!), M. Kohno (on a national fellowship at the Hoover Institute, Stanford).

Visitors

J. Everitt (Ph.D. Toronto and more recently a postdoc at McGill), A. Sens (Ph.D. Queen's and recently postdoc at the IIIR at UBC).

Postdoctoral fellows

W. Cross (Ph.D. Western), L. Young (Ph.D. Toronto), J.D. Yuan (Ph.D. Queen's)

Recent developments

Daryl Jarvis (Ph.D. UBC) has just won a tenure track appointment at Sydney; K. Carty has just been appointed Professor and Head of the department.

* * * * *

BROCK UNIVERSITY

Publications

* * * * *

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF CAPE BRETON

Scientific Meetings

The 1997 Atlantic Political Studies Association annual conference will be held at UCCB.

* * * * *

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF THE CARIBOO

Appointments

Dr. Stephen Eggleson joins the UCC Department of Philosophy, History & Politics for the 1996-97 year, covering mainly courses on Canadian Politics. Stephen has taught at Queen’s University in Kingston (his alma mater) and at both UVic and UBC. He is an active scholar, with two articles forthcoming on the British North America Act’s “peace, order & good government” clause, and party politics in the nineteenth century. There is a book in the works as well, with the working title Parties and Parliaments: Political Development in Canada. Dr. Eggleson will replace Dr. Richard Sigurdson, formerly chair of PHP, who has recently ascended to the position of Acting Associate Dean of Arts.
Publications

Prof. Dutkiewicz coordinated a training program on Central and Eastern Europe for CIDA. He also directed a three-week human rights program for the American Development Foundation in Russia.

The Graduate Program in Political Science is now officially online. The address of the website is http://www.carleton.ca/polisci. Access can also be obtained through the Carleton University Home Page at http://www.carleton.ca/cu/depts.html or by using any one of the Internet search engines.

CARLETON UNIVERSITY

Awards

Elliot Tepper received an award from the Government of Taiwan, Faculty Research Program in Canada. His project is to study the government's program to encourage business investment in the ASEAN region, as a counterweight to the heavy investment in Mainland China.

At the annual meeting of the CPSA at Brock University on 1 June, John Sigler was honoured by the International Relations section for his contribution to the field of international relations.

Publications

Peter Emberley has a book out with Penguin Books, entitled Zero Tolerance: Hot Button Politics in Canada’s Universities. He is also the founding Director of the University’s new College of the Humanities.

C.G. Jacobson’s latest book, The New World Order’s Defining Crises: The Clash of Promise and Essence, was published by Dartmouth Publishing in the UK in June. Other recent publications include analyses of the Yugoslav secession and succession wars for NebE Frankfurter Hef and European Security, a study of U.S. Bosnian strategy for South Slav Journal, and an up-date of previous work on post-Soviet area security dynamics for War and Society.

Other News

Prof. Dutkiewicz is a member of the International Advisory Board of the Institute for Eastern European Studies in Warsaw. He also directs a Canadian group in a project to adapt unemployment insurance programs to the Russian Federation’s needs.

UNIVERSITÉ LAVAL

Congés sabbatiques

Pauline Côté (du 1er juin 1996 au 31 mai 1997)
Pierre-Gerlier Forest (du 1er septembre 1996 au 31 août 1997)
Gérard Hervouet (du 1er juillet 1996 au 31 décembre 1996)
Réjean Landry (du 1er juillet 1996 au 31 juin 1997)
Max Nemni (du 1er juillet 1996 au 31 décembre 1996)
François Pétry (du 1er janvier 1997 au 31 décembre 1997)

Engagement

Publications

Thèses déposées

Demers, Louis, Hôpital communautaire, hôpital universitaire. La régulation de l'engorgement de l'urgence dans un centre hospitalier universitaire.
Date de soutenance: août 1996
Directeur: Vincent Lemieux

Pham, Quoc Tru, Le régionalisme comme stratégie de sécurité: un régime de sécurité coopérative dans l'Association des nations de l'Asie du sud-est (ASEANO 1967-1995).
Date de soutenance: septembre 1996
Directeur: Gérard Hervouet

UNIVERSITÉ D'OTTAWA

Congés sabbatiques

Claire Turenne Sjolander (du 1er juillet 1996 au 30 juin 1997)
Lawrence Alschuler (du 1er janvier au 30 juin 1997)

Retraites anticipées

William Badour
John Trent
André Vachet

Professeur invité

Autres nouvelles

Le Département se prépare à lancer en 1998 un programme d'éducation coopérative pour ses étudiants et étudiantes en spécialisation.

UNIVERSITY OF REGINA

Appointments

Shreesh Juyal has been appointed as Chairman of the Commission on Disarmament and Security of the World Federation of Scientific Workers (WFSW), a senior consultative status organization with UNESCO.

Publications

The book, The United Nations: New Perspectives, edited by Prof. Juyal was recently published by Creative Books, New Delhi, India. The volume includes a detailed description of the evolving U.N. and its ability to adapt to the dynamics of changing global scenario, the emerging patterns of the new international system, the U.N. peacekeeping operations and arms control and disarmament.

UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN

On leave

Professors Joseph Garcea and Ronald Wheeler are on sabbatical for the 1996-97 academic year.

Fellowships

Professor David E. Smith is in the second year of his Killam Research Fellowship. Professor John C. Courtney spent the months of May and June, 1996 at the University of Marburg, Germany, as visiting professor. His book, Do Conventions Matter?, is a finalist for the Harold Adam Innis Book Prize, awarded annually by the Humanities and Social Sciences Federation of Canada.

Publications

Other News

Professor Kalowatie Deonandan has commenced the presidency of the Canadian Association of Caribbean and Latin American Studies.
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

Scientific Meetings

The Stalin-Era Research and Archives Project (SERAP) at the Centre for Russian and East European Studies, University of Toronto invites papers for a workshop, "State and Society in the Stalin Era through the Prism of Regional Archives" to be held June 15-22, 1997 (subject to available funding). This workshop is aimed in particular at junior scholars who are close to completion of a dissertation or first monograph. For further information, please contact SERAP at CREES, University of Toronto, 130 St. George Street, Suite 14335, Toronto, Ontario M5S 1A5, Canada (tel: 416-978-3330; fax: 416-978-3817; e-mail: stalin@chass.utoronto.ca).

UNIVERSITY OF WATERLOO

Publications

Margaret Moore has an article, "On Reasonableness", in the Journal of Applied Philosophy.

Appointments

Peter Woolstencroft was recently reappointed to a second three-year term as Associate Dean of Arts, Special Programs, and also serves as the University of Waterloo's Academic Colleague to the Council of Ontario Universities.

UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN ONTARIO

On leave

Elizabeth Riddell-Dixon has finished her term as Chair, and is on sabbatical. Bob Young is now Chair. A.K. McDougall will be on sabbatical as of January 1997. Michael Keating is back from a term at the Nobel Institute, Oslo.

Recent theses

Coventry, Leslie
Title: Campaign Strategy and the Uses of Televised Political Advertising in Michigan and Ontario
Defended: June 1996
Supervisor: S.J.R. Noel

Cross, William
Title: Grassroots Participation in Canadian Political Parties: An Examination of Leadership Selection, Candidate Nomination, Policy Development and Election Campaigning Defended: July 1996
Supervisor: S.J.R. Noel

Hale, Geoffrey
Title: The Politics of Canadian Tax Policy: 1978-88 - Tax Reform as Constitutional Change Defended: February 1996
Supervisor: S.J.R. Noel

Other news

Since August, twelve M.A. students have successfully defended their theses. We will graduate thirteen MPA students this autumn. As well, three Ph.D. students have completed this year: remarkably, Sid Noel was the principal supervisor of each.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES/
OFFRES D'EMPLOI

UNIVERSITY OF LETHBRIDGE

Subject to budgetary approval, the Department of Political Science at the University of Lethbridge will be hiring two Assistant Professors, beginning August 1 1997.

One of the two will be a probationary (tenure-track) appointment. Both positions represent replacements for early retirements. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Political Science (completed or near completion); a commitment to scholarship and teaching in a university with good opportunities for research and scholarly activity; and the ability to teach courses in one or more of: methodology/political behaviour; comparative politics (developed/industrial nations); and political theory. Because we are a small department, the ability to teach in more than one of the sub-disciplines of Political Science is an asset. The normal teaching load is five semester courses per year, two in one semester and three in the other. Summer session teaching is over and above the normal load -- that is, voluntary and paid.

The successful candidates will be expected to teach introductory and advanced courses in the above mentioned fields, and to develop a continuing research program in political science. The university aspires to hire individuals who have demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching, research and scholarship. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, this advertisement is directed to Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada.

The current floor salary for an Assistant Professor is $37,350 per annum (subject to review).

Applicants should send a letter describing interest and qualifications in all areas of teaching competence, and attach a curriculum vitae, transcripts, course outlines and teaching evaluations (where appropriate) and a statement of teaching philosophy. In addition, applicants should submit a sample of their best written work, and arrange to have three letters of reference sent to: Dr. Peter McCormick, Chair; Department of Political Science; The University of Lethbridge; 4401 University Drive; Lethbridge, Alberta T1K 3M4; CANADA. For further information, please feel free to contact us by e-mail; address enquiries to bhodgson@hg.uleth.ca.

The deadline for applications is January 30, 1997; we intend to move as quickly as possible after that date to short-list, to interview and to make offers.

For further information about the Department and the University, you may consult our web-page at: http://home.uleth.ca/pol/

* * * * *

UNIVERSITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK
SAINT JOHN CAMPUS

Applications are invited for a tenure-track position in Political Science.

The appointment will commence July 1st, 1997, subject to budgetary approval. Candidates must have a doctorate; ABDs will be considered only under exceptional circumstances and if they can show evidence of imminent completion. The successful candidate will be able to teach Canadian Politics with an emphasis on Public Policy and Policy Analysis. The Department is particularly interested in someone who has research and teaching interests in Polling Studies, as the successful candidate may be called upon to help with the establishment of a Centre for Policy and Polling Studies.

Rank and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applications, with curriculum vitae and the names and addresses of three referees, should be sent to Dr. F. K. Donnelly, Chair, Department of History and Politics, University of New Brunswick, P. O. Box 5050, Saint John, NB, E2L 4L5, or faxed to 506-648-5799. The University of New Brunswick is committed to employment equity. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, this advertisement is directed to Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada.

* * * * *

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

The Women's Studies Program and the Department of Sociology of the University of Kentucky invite nominations and applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position, with a roughly even split of responsibilities between research and teaching. Rank is open, but it is expected that the appointment will be made at the Associate Professor level. The position will involve a joint appointment in Women's Studies and Sociology, with tenure in the Department of Sociology. The successful applicant will conduct research, graduate instruction, and undergraduate instruction on gender related issues. An ability and willingness to teach required courses in sociological research methods or theory as well as Introduction to Women's Studies and courses on sexuality, women of colour, or global women's issues/theories is highly desirable. A Ph.D. in Sociology or a closely related social science discipline, a distinguished record of scholarship and publication, and evidence of superior contributions as instructor and mentor are required.

Applicants should send a letter of application describing their research and teaching interests and accomplishments, a vita, and names, addresses, and phone numbers of at least three references to Dr. James Houglind and Dr. Patricia Cooper, c/o Dept. of Sociology, University of Kentucky, Lexington, KY 40506-0027. A single application addressed to Drs. Houglind and Cooper will be sufficient. Subject to final budget approval. Review of applications will begin on Friday, January 10, 1997; the position will remain open until filled. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. The University of Kentucky is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

For more information, contact:
Pat Cooper
Director, Women's Studies Program
915 Patterson Office Tower
University of Kentucky
Lexington, KY 40506
TEL.: (606) 257-1388
UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pennsylvania invites applications for a faculty position at the level of Full Professor in International Relations and Politics broadly conceived, beginning in the 1997-98 academic year. This position involves an endowed chair and is designed to attract an outstanding teacher and scholar; the person who holds it would head the newly created Christopher H. Browne Center for International Politics. Applicants should send a dossier that includes a letter of interest, a current curriculum vitae, a description of current research orientation and work in progress, and a list of references; samples of work are not required at this time but will be accepted. Penn is an AA/EO employer, and women and minorities are strongly urged to apply. The deadline for applications is January 1, 1997, but applicants are strongly encouraged to apply as soon as possible. Send application to: Professor Thomas M. Callaghan, International Relations and Politics Search Committee, 217 Stiteler Hall, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6215.

UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN

Applications are invited for a one year term appointment at the (senior) Associate Professor level in the Department of Political Studies, University of Saskatchewan for the 1997-98 academic year (July 1, 1997 to June 30, 1998). This is the second of a series of one year appointments the Department has made and will make in alternate years. Applications from all fields of specialization in political studies will be considered. The successful applicant will have an active agenda of research and publication. Applications, including a curriculum vitae and the names and addresses of three referees, should be sent to Professor Hans J. Michelmann, Head, Department of Political Studies, 9 Campus Drive, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, SK, S7N 5A5. The University of Saskatchewan is committed to Employment Equity. Members of Designated Groups (women, aboriginal people, people with disabilities and visible minorities) are encouraged to self-identify on their applications. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, this advertisement is directed to Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada. Deadline: January 31, 1996.

UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN ONTARIO

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position, to commence on July 1, 1997. The position is subject to budgetary approval. Applicants should have a Ph.D., and show evidence of strong research potential. Applications are invited from specialists in Canadian Politics. The sub-field is open, but the successful candidate will have a demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary or comparative work in women's studies, political economy, European politics, or quantitative methods, for example. As well, the Department is interested in applicants with a proven commitment to innovative undergraduate teaching, and to interdisciplinary teaching and research. The appointment will be made at the rank of Assistant Professor. Salary is negotiable. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, this advertisement is directed to Canadian Citizens and Permanent Residents of Canada. The University of Western Ontario is committed to employment equity, welcomes diversity in the workplace, and encourages applications from all qualified individuals, including women, members of visible minorities, aboriginal persons, and persons with disabilities. Applications, together with a c.v. and the names of three referees, should be directed to: Dr. Robert Young, Chair, Department of Political Science, Social Science Centre, The University of Western Ontario, London, Ontario, Canada. N6A 5C2. Deadline for receipt of applications: February 1, 1997, or until the position is filled.
will be made at the rank of Associate Professor. Salary is negotiable. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, this advertisement is directed to Canadian Citizens and Permanent Residents of Canada. The University of Western Ontario is committed to employment equity, welcomes diversity in the workplace, and encourages applications from all qualified individuals, including women, members of visible minorities, aboriginal persons, and persons with disabilities. Applications, together with a c.v. and the names of three referees, should be directed to: Dr. Robert Young, Chair, Department of Political Science, Social Science Centre, The University of Western Ontario, London, Ontario, Canada. N6A 5C2. Deadline for receipt of applications: February 1, 1997.

* * * * *

UNIVERSITY OF WINDSOR

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor rank beginning July 1, 1997. A completed Ph.D. is preferred, however, strong candidates nearing a dissertation defense will be considered.

The position is primarily in the area of Canadian Foreign Policy and secondarily in International Relations (any specialty). It entails teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in Canadian Foreign Policy; teaching undergraduate courses in International Relations, including an introductory course; and supervising graduate research at the M.A. level. A commitment to research and publication is essential.

The University of Windsor is committed to employment equity and welcomes applications from Aboriginal People, persons with disabilities and visible minorities. Applications from women are particularly encouraged. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, this notice is directed to Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada.

Applications, including a curriculum vitae, transcripts of relevant graduate work, names and addresses of three referees and a sample of research (published or unpublished) should be sent to arrive at the University of Windsor by January 31, 1997 and addressed to Dr. W. C. Soderlund, Head, Department of Political Science, University of Windsor, Windsor, ON N9B 3P4.

* * * * *

YORK UNIVERSITY

York University, Faculty of Arts, department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Canadian politics, with a specialization in women and politics. The successful candidate will be expected to have strong commitment and demonstrated ability in the areas of research and teaching and must have a Ph.D. complete at the time the appointment commences on July 1, 1997. It is expected that the person appointed will be able to contribute at an early date to teaching and supervision in the Graduate Programme in Political Science. Applications must be received by January 31, 1997. Salary: commensurate with qualifications. Applicants should send a curriculum vitae, appropriate examples of their scholarship, and teaching evaluations, and arrange to have three letters of reference sent to Professor Harvey G. Simmons, Department of Political Science, York University, 4700 Keele Street, North York, Ontario M3J 1P3. This appointment is subject to budgetary approval. York University is implementing a policy of employment equity, including affirmative action for women faculty. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, this advertisement is directed to Canadian citizens and permanent residents.

* * * * *

YORK UNIVERSIT

Faculty of Arts, Department of Political Science. Applications are invited for a tenure-track appointment at the assistant professor level in International Relations. Candidates are expected to have a strong record in teaching and publication in multilateralism and/or international security and/or foreign policy. Applicants are expected to demonstrate strength in International Relations theory. A regional specialization would be an asset. Appointment to commence July 1, 1997. Requirements: PhD or equivalent. Salary: Commensurate with qualifications. Applicants should send a curriculum vitae, appropriate samples of their scholarship, teaching evaluations, and arrange to have three letters of reference sent to: Professor Harvey G. Simmons, Chair, Department of Political Science, Room S669 Ross Building, York University, 4700 Keele Street, North York (Toronto), Ontario, Canada, M3J 1P3. This appointment is subject to budgetary approval. York University is implementing a policy of employment equity, including affirmative action for women faculty. In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, this advertisement is directed to Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada. Applications must be received by January 31, 1997.

RENCONTRES SCIENTIFIQUES ET APPELS DE MANUSCRITS / SCIENTIFIC MEETINGS AND CALLS FOR PAPERS

Appel de communication: ACFAS 1997, Université du Québec à Trois-Rivières
"La jeunesse au carrefour: quelles perspectives pour l'avenir?"
12-13 mai, 1997

Les 12 et 13 mai prochains, l'INRS - Culture et société organise un colloque sur les approches théoriques et empiriques de la jeunesse. Depuis quelques années, l'étude de diverses facettes de la jeunesse la font apparaître comme un objet théoriquement complexe, sans qu'il n'empêche qu'elle fasse quotidiennement l'objet d'interventions particulières de la part des pouvoirs publics. Dans ce contexte, ne faudrait-il pas réfléchir davantage sur les orientations données et resituer la jeunesse dans le cours des recherches et des interventions, afin de poursuivre nos interrogations sur la place que prennent les jeunes dans la société actuelle? Où commence et où se termine la jeunesse? Cette question porte à s'interroger sur le flou des marques de la jeunesse qui semble se refléter dans les notions communément employées pour la décrire. «Entrée dans la vie», «insertion», «intégration», «autonomie», «socialisation», «exclusion», sont autant de thèmes qui servent à l'étude des jeunes, mais que l'on ait toujours clairement conçu en quoi la jeunesse constitue un groupe sur lequel il est possible de tenir un discours. Comment ce groupe doit-il être défini? Au-delà de l'unité supposée de la jeunesse, ne forme-t-elle pas aussi un groupe traversé par d'importantes divisions, au point où il peut paraître illégitime d'en parler comme d'un groupe constitué? Bref, nous cherchons à nous interroger sur les cadres qui nous permettent de penser l'objet jeunesse dans toute sa complexité. Quatre thèmes structureront ainsi ce colloque:

1. La jeunesse comme objet d'étude: réflexions épistémologiques et théoriques
2. Bilan analytique des travaux sur la jeunesse
3. Perspectives interdisciplinaires sur la question de la jeunesse
4. La place actuelle des jeunes dans la société

Marc Molgat, INRS-Culture et société, 306, place d'Youville, B-10, Montréal (Québec) H2Y 2B6, téléphone: (514) 841-4010, télécopieur: (514) 841-4015, Marc_Molgat@inrs-culture.quebec.ca.

Bernard Fournier, INRS-Culture et société, 2050, boul. René-Lévesque Ouest, 3e étage, Sainte-Foy (Québec) GIV 2K8, téléphone: (418) 687-6406, télécopieur: (418) 687-6425, Bernard_Fournier@inrs-culture.quebec.ca.

Société québécoise de science politique
Invitation à soumettre des projets de communication
Université du Québec à Trois-Rivières
Dates : 14, 15 et 16 mai 1997

Chaque projet devrait comporter un titre et un résumé de la communication (environ 300 mots) et doit être transmis au secrétariat de la Société québécoise de science politique à l'adresse suivante : Société québécoise de science politique, a/s du département de science politique, Université du Québec à Montréal, C.P. 8888, Succ. Centre-Ville, Montréal, Québec, H3C 3P8, ou par télécopieur au numéro (514) 987-4878, avant le 15 décembre 1996. Prière d'indiquer l'adresse complète des auteurs. Pour participer au Congrès, il est essentiel d'être membre en règle de la Société québécoise de science politique.

La date limite pour soumission des projets est le 15 décembre 1996.

Comité du programme

Bernard Fournier
INRS-Culture et société
2050, boulevard René-Lévesque Ouest
Sainte-Foy, Québec GIV 2K8
électrophone: (418) 687-6406
télécopieur: (418) 687-6425
courriel électronique: fournier@inrs-culture.quebec.ca

Maryse Potvin
Département d'histoire et de sciences politiques
Université de Sherbrooke
Sherbrooke, Québec JIK 2R1
électrophone: (514) 487-4114 ou (819) 821-7221 télécopieur: (514) 487-4114 ou (819) 821-7285
courriel électronique: lmurphy@total.net
Yves Couture
Département de science politique
Université de Paris 1
450, rue Sherbrooke Est
app. 607
Montréal, Québec H2L 1J8
téléphone : (514) 844-1354

Nous sommes souvent appelés à considérer les réalités du politique en utilisant l’image de collectivités ou de regroupements. La science politique ne repose-t-elle pas sur les concepts de nation, de collectivité ou de volonté générale, qui renvoient tous à de grands ensembles transcendant l’individu ? Pourtant, la place et l’importance des « groupes » comme mode d’expression des actions et des intérêts politiques individuels sont l’objet de remises en question, sur le terrain de l’action comme sur celui de la réflexion. Dans nos sociétés, certains contestent les institutions au profit d’une valorisation des droits des citoyens. Plusieurs considèrent l’engagement politique sous le seul angle de l’embrigadement dans une structure où les volontés individuelles ne peuvent plus s’exprimer. Dans ce contexte, quel est aujourd’hui l’état des rapports entre l’acteur individuel et les structures collectives qu’abordent les différents champs de la science politique ? Plus encore, quel bilan pouvons-nous faire de notre compréhension de l’homo politicus, au delà de l’utilisation d’images collectives qui synthétiseraient son action et ses motivations ? Les perspectives théoriques de la science politique et ses objets apportent-ils finalement, en ce domaine, une connaissance différente de celle d’autres disciplines ? Que nous apprennent nos recherches, explicitement ou non, sur les univers politiques des individus dans lesquels s’inscrivent leurs motivations et leurs actions ? Y a-t-il, enfin, une interaction fructueuse entre la réflexion théorique générale sur l’individu et les recherches appliquées, ou s’agit-il plutôt de deux univers qui tendent à se constituer dans l’ignorance et même une certaine méfiance réciproque ? C’est à cette réflexion sur la représentation de l’individu pour la science politique, et sur l’individu comme composante de la structuration des forces et des règles du jeu politique, que nous vous convions dans le cadre de notre prochain congrès.

* * * *

Call for Papers
"Looking Back / Looking Forward: Women’s Voices, Victories, and Visions"
The Carrie Chapman Catt Center for Women and Politics: Fifth Annual Spring Conference at Iowa State University

With a focus on the 1996 elections, this conference seeks to bring together scholars and practitioners to discuss the voices, victories, and visions of women in the political process. We invite papers from scholars on such areas as voting behaviour, including the gender gap policies; campaign messages of women, including speeches, debates, and political advertising; case studies of campaigns; media studies of campaigns; the evolving role of the First Lady in presidential politics; and the articulation of women’s issues both in the United States and abroad. All of these topical areas are broadly conceived.

Please submit proposals with a curriculum vitae by December 13, 1996. Final papers are due by January 31, 1997. Previously presented or published materials should not be submitted. Papers will be presented in panels at the conference and may be published under the auspices of the Carrie Chapman Catt Center.

For more information, contact Dr. Dianne Bystrum, Director, Carrie Chapman Catt Center for Women and Politics, at (515) 294-3181 or dbystrom@iastate.edu. Send proposals to:
The Carrie Chapman Catt Center for Women and Politics
Spring Conference Paper Proposals
Iowa State University
309 Carrie Chapman Catt Hall
Ames, IA 50011-1305
Fax: (515) 294-3741

* * * *

Call for Papers
Current World Leaders
International Issues

Current World Leaders, published for 39 years, is accepting papers for publication in 1997.

Each of the three International Issues issues will focus on a specific topic: “Media and Politics” for April, “Nationalism and Ethnic Politics” for August, and “Women and Politics” for December. We intend to cover at least two, preferably several, perspectives on each topic. For example, the issue on “Women and Politics” might have one article discussing the changes wrought by women gaining equality and increasing their political power within the United States. Or, it might contain an article presenting a cross-national analysis of the effects on various cultures and political systems of increasing equality for women. They are calling for previously unpublished papers that present a particular point-of-view on the topics described above. Articles should be between 4,500 and 10,000 words long.

They also welcome suggestions for other topics.

For more information including deadlines and a style guide contact:

Thomas S. Garrison
Editorial Director
Current World Leaders
800 Garden Street, Suite D
Santa Barbara, CA 93101, USA
Phone: (805) 965-5010
Fax: (805) 965-6071
E-Mail: iasb@igc.apc.org

* * * * *

Call for Papers
Women in Development Conference
"Globalization and Women's Responses"
March 14-16, 1997

Women in Development (WID) has issued a call for papers for its conference 14-16 March 1997, "Globalization and Women's Responses." This year's themes include urbanization, health, and economic and political power.

Deadline for proposal submissions is 12 December 1996.

For more information, contact MAWST64+@PITT.EDU or visit http://www.earthlink.net/~jeannies/WID1 or http://www.pitt.edu/~women

* * * * *

"Translating/Transposing Cultures"
CROSSING THE BOUNDARIES V
A Counter-Disciplinary Graduate Student Conference
SUNY Binghamton
Binghamton, New York
April 4-5, 1997

This year's conference will focus on: "Translating/Transposing Cultures"

The collective of the 5th annual Crossing the Boundaries Conference invites members from various cultural spaces and different academic disciplines to examine the issues of cultural translation and/or transposition. We invite paper and panel proposals, as well as encourage creative, non-formal, and interactive presentations (e.g. video, performance art, installations, interactive multimedia, etc...). Completed panel proposals are encouraged and enthusiastically received. This conference has been established and is run by graduate students as a site of resistance.

Some possible themes:

- issues of translation: being translated; representation outside of one's language and culture; what gets imposed?; how is one hailed?
- pedagogy: teaching Postcolonial and Commonwealth literatures; teaching "other" cultures and classes
- cyber-whatever: what gets "translated" through machine interface?
- high culture/pop culture transpositions
- multiculturalism and identity politics: unity, coalition forming, marginalization, and imposition of difference
- queer work: what gets "translated" to/from feminist, gender, or postcolonial projects?
- ideology and its persuasiveness
- activism and academia: transposing community and academy
- comparative histories (e.g. Latin American, Caribbean, Asian, etc)
- sex, disease, vilification, power
- appropriation, imperialism, post-colonialisms
- liminal frontiers: nomadism, hybridism and territorial mapping
- the social constructions of pleasure, memory and the (un)conscious
- working class identity, labour strikes and ritual protests
- the built environment: urban planning translations/transpositions
- the inter-merger of gender, science and technology
- dressing for power, dressing for pleasure
- "the new tribalism" and heroin chic
- Website publishing: info technology, privatization and culture
- morphing cultures

Submit one-page abstracts or presentation proposals by January 31, 1997 to:

Crossing the Boundaries V
c/o English Department
SUNY Binghamton
Box 6000, NY, 13902

Or e-mail your proposal to: br00577@binghamton.edu.
Abstracts should be submitted, along with a separate listing of name, paper title, institutional and departmental affiliation, preferred mailing address, phone, and e-mail address.

Please include your mailing address, e-mail address, and phone number. As well, include a self-addressed stamped envelope for any materials you would like returned to you (portfolios, discs, slides, video tapes, etc.).

If you need more information, please feel free to contact:

Michael Ma
Department of Art History
SUNY Binghamton
Binghamton, NY, 13902
email: br00577@binghamton.edu
phone: 607-797-9567

Jennifer Lutzenberger
Department of English
SUNY Binghamton
Binghamton, NY, 13902
email: bc82767@binghamton.edu
phone: 607-722-9493

Drs. Nancy Stanlick and Ellen Wagner
Dept. of History, Philosophy and Religious Studies
University of North Florida
Jacksonville, FL. 32224

The deadline for submission of papers is January 15, 1997. The conference will include the following guest speakers:

Dr. Michael Zimmerman of Tulane University
Department of Philosophy, speaking on environmental ethics (Fri. night, Feb. 28), and Prof. Joanne Waugh of the University of South Florida Department of Philosophy and Editor of "Hypatia: A Journal of Feminist Philosophy", speaking on feminist epistemology (Saturday afternoon, March 1, 1997).

A final program of the conference will be available in early February, 1997.

If you need further information, please contact: nstanlic@osprey.unf.edu or call (904) 646-2886.

* * * * *

"Women & Society" Conference
Marist College, Poughkeepsie, NY
June 6-8, 1997

The 7th Annual conference on "Women & Society" will be held 6-8 June 1997 at Marist College in Poughkeepsie, NY, USA. This is "an inter- and multi-disciplinary conference on all aspects & issues of gender." Papers, panels, workshops, and exhibitions will be considered. Please submit a 250 word abstract or completed paper & brief biography by 17 January 1997. For more info contact:

Dr. Sue Lawrence or Dr. Jo Anne Myers
E-mail: JZLY@MARISTB.MARIST.EDU or JZNQ@MARISTB.MARIST.EDU

* * * * *

Call for Papers
"Gendered Revisions: Identity, Culture & Conflict in History"
State University of New York at Binghamton
April 11, 12 1997

The History Graduate Students at the State University of New York at Binghamton present:
"Gendered Revisions: Identity, Culture & Conflict in History"
A Graduate Student Conference
April 11, 12 1997

Papers are invited on all aspects of women's and gender history. Perspectives on United States history, the history of Latin America and the Caribbean, European history and all other fields are welcomed. Especially encouraged are papers that utilize a global perspective. We hope to complicate the discussion of gendered identities through consideration of other, perhaps competing identities, such as those negotiated through paradigms of race, class, ethnicity, sexuality, and national location. The conference aims to provide an intellectually vigorous and supportive atmosphere for graduate students presenting papers.

Proposals for papers, 1-2 pages in length, are due by February 1, 1997. Papers will be due by March 15, 1997.

For more information, please contact:

Gendered Revisions Conference
Department of History
SUNY-Binghamton
Binghamton, NY
13902-6000

or visit our Webpage:
http://www.geocities.com/Athens/9579

* * * * *

Call for Papers
Mid-South Philosophy Conference
University of Memphis
February 28 - March 1, 1997

The 21st annual Mid-South Philosophy Conference is scheduled for Friday afternoon and Saturday, February 28 - March 1, at the University of Memphis. Papers on any topic of philosophic interest are welcome. Papers are limited to 12 double-spaced pages. Send three printed copies as well as a copy in WordPerfect or ASCII format on a computer diskette. All copies must include a 100-word abstract, the paper's title, author's name, institutional affiliation, mailing address, telephone number, and e-mail address. Papers which do not meet these guidelines will not be considered. Send submissions to:

Professor James B. Sauer
Department of Philosophy
Saint Mary's University
One Camino Santa Maria
San Antonio
TX 78228-8566

Papers must be submitted by January 4. Papers will be reviewed by a committee, and notification of acceptance will be made in late January. Each paper will have a commentator. Those interested in commenting should notify Professor Sauer no later than January 24 of availability and areas of interest. Professor Sauer's email address is philjim@stmarytx.edu and his telephone number is (210) 431-6860.

Professor Jean Grondin of the University of Montreal will be the keynote speaker. Funding for the keynote speaker is provided by the University of Memphis Center for the Humanities, directed by Professor Thomas Nonen.

Professor Nenon has reserved rooms for Friday (2/28) and Saturday (3/1) at the Holiday Inn Midtown on 1837 Union Avenue, a ten minute drive from campus. The room rate is $59.00 per night. Make reservations directly; the hotel's telephone number is (901) 278-4100. The airport shuttle goes to the hotel for ten dollars.

Please encourage undergraduate students to attend and submit papers to the University of Memphis Undergraduate Philosophy Conference, which will be running parallel sessions. Papers may be on any area of philosophy. Papers are limited to 12 double-spaced pages (preference will be given to well-focused shorter papers). Papers must be submitted by January 24; review of submissions will begin on January 13. Send two printed copies with a 100-word abstract to: Undergraduate Philosophy Club, Department of Philosophy, University of Memphis, Memphis, TN 38152. Include a telephone number or email address.

The Mid-South Philosophy Conference is supported and underwritten by the Philosophy Department and Center for the Humanities of the University of Memphis, as well as by the Philosophy Department and Institute of Liberal Arts of Oklahoma City University. Visit http://frank.mtsu.edu/~jpurcell/MidSouth/midsouth.html

* * * * *
Call for Papers
23RD Annual Third World Conference
"Connecting Theory and Practice for the Emerging Global Changes into the 21st Century"
Chicago, IL, USA
March 19-22, 1997

The Conference critically examines the complexity of economic, socio-cultural, political and technological changes in a rapidly changing world. In particular, the Conference will examine theoretical and practical issues, e.g., poverty, education and health that affect the entire spectrum of Third World/Diaspora societies. The objective of this Conference is to pose questions and formulate solutions in an effort to develop a better understanding of the important issues confronting the changing global system.

If your research, policy, creative and practical work or development interest critically examines emerging global changes, send two copies of a short abstract or prospectus to the Program Committee by December 13, 1996. Submissions are encouraged from all disciplines, intercultural/multidisciplinary panels, comparative studies and works or projects in progress, particularly from college and university faculty. Activists and NGOs in the general field of development, global and Third World Studies are also invited to submit abstracts.

Sample topics to be covered:
- Critique of the Globalization Process
- Leadership Role of Women
- Technology and Social Change
- Human Resources / Population Issues
- Culture and Creative Expression
- Reconcepting the State and Economy
- The Environment and Ecology
- Innovative Educational Approaches
- Health
- Urban / Community Development

Mail the Program Committee:
Dr. Roger K. Oden
University Professor of Political Science
23rd Annual Third World Conference
1507 E. 53rd Street, Suite 305
Chicago, IL. 60615-4509

Phone: (312) 241-6688
Fax: (312) 241-7898
E-Mail: r-odden@govst.edu

Call for Papers & Presentations
"Beyond Poverty - Citizenship, Welfare and Well-being in the 21st Century"
Auckland University, New Zealand
March 14-16, 1997

The Conference is being held at Auckland University, New Zealand, from Friday evening 14 March 1997 to Sunday evening, 16 March. Offers of papers and presentations are requested from community workers, researchers and analysts on topics relevant to the above theme, including the current situation in New Zealand, where we would like to be, and how we can get there.

Please send a 250 word outline/summary/abstract to the Conference Organisers, c/o Private Bag 11 042, Palmerston North, fax (06)350 6319 or e-mail to ian.ritchie@psa.union.org.nz by 15 December, 1997.

Fifth Women's Global Leadership Institute
"Women's Human Rights: Realizing Our Visions" Center for Women's Global Leadership
Douglass College
New Brunswick, NJ
June 15 - 28, 1997

Around the world, women from diverse backgrounds and experiences have demanded that governments adopt policies which concretely promote and protect women's human rights. These voices represent a vision in which feminist perspectives are key to global policy making and where opportunities for participation are multiplied. Creating a women's human rights vision of a transformed world - and reaching toward this goal - requires women's leadership that is accountable, democratic and inclusive.

Women feel empowered by the acknowledgement of our human rights made at the World Conferences by governments and the United Nations, and this Institute will explore mechanisms through which policies can actually be changed and violators held accountable to realize those rights. Women must take leadership to increase awareness of the promises made by governments and to create ways to utilize this framework in our communities in areas key to advancing women's human rights: violence against women and reproductive & sexual rights.
NOTICE

Directory of Political Scientists in Canada 1996

Now available

The 1996 edition of the Directory of Political Scientists in Canada is now available. This publication includes the names and biographical information, including subject and geographical specializations, of the CPSA/SQSP members as of October 1, 1996, the list of departments of political science and the list of graduate programmes.

PRICE: $20 including GST and postage

ORDERS:
Canadian Political Science Association
Suite 205 - 1 Stewart Street
Ottawa, ON K1N 6H7
(613) 564-4026
(613) 230-2746 (Fax)
cpsa@csse.ca

AVIS

Répertoire des politologues du Canada 1996

Maintenant disponible

Le Répertoire des politologues du Canada, 1996 est maintenant disponible. Cette publication comprend une liste des noms et des données biographiques (incluant les domaines de spécialisation ainsi que les régions géographiques d'intérêt) des membres de l'ACSP/SQSP au 1er octobre 1996, la liste des départements de science politique et la liste des programmes de 2e et 3e cycles.

PRIX UNITAIRE: 20 $ incluant la tps et les frais de manutention

COMMANDES:
Association canadienne de science politique
Bureau 205 - 1, rue Stewart
Université d'Ottawa
Ottawa, ON K1N 6H7
(613) 564-4026
(613) 230-2746 (Télécopieur)
cpsa@csse.ca
This year's Women's Global Leadership Institute, "Women's Human Rights: Realizing Our Visions", June 15-28, 1997, will bring together leaders who have been working on issues of women's human rights including local and national organizers, public officials, policy makers, researchers, and activists working on varying aspects of the topic. We welcome women from all regions of the world who have taken leadership in various fields to make the abuse of female human rights visible and unacceptable.

The Women's Global Leadership Institute will be a two-week intensive working session of approximately 20 women representing diverse regions, cultures, and interests. Participants will spend time sharing their experiences and developing feminist strategies on the theme. They will work on cross-cultural collaboration and plans for influencing how the international community approaches these issues. They will also learn and exchange leadership skills and organizing techniques. In addition, participants will meet with resource people from the U.N., non-governmental organizations, and foundations in the USA.

Participants are expected to stay for the entire two week period. They should bring materials, resources, and documents from their region. They should have worked on these issues or related concerns for at least two years in either professional or volunteer capacities. Applicants should have clear plans to take the skills and contacts gained at the Institute back to their own projects, governments or regions. Since much of the work is informal and we do not have funds for extensive interpretation, the sessions will be conducted in English.

The Center hopes to raise money to cover travel and expenses of participants. However, where possible, it is hoped that they will have some local support for incidentals. For more information or to request an application, please contact: Susana Fried, Institute Coordinator, Center for Women's Global Leadership, Douglass College, 27 Clifton Avenue, New Brunswick, NJ 08903, USA. Phone: (1-908)932-8782, fax: (1-908)932-1180, e-mail: cwgl@igc.apc.org.

* * * * *

Call for Abstracts / Papers
Business & Economics Society
International Conference
Athens/Greece
July 18-22, 1997

The Business & Economics Society International Conference will be held in Athens/Greece (Hotel Grande Bretagne), July 18-22, 1997. You may participate as panel organizer, presenter of one or two papers, chair, moderator, discussant, or observer. The deadline for abstract submission and participation is March 20, 1997.

For more information please contact Helen Kantarelis through Regular Mail:

Business & Economics Society International
c/o Helen Kantarelis
64 Holden Street
Worcester, MA 01605, USA

Tel: (508) 852-3937 or (508) 767-7557,
Fax: (508) 756-1780,
or E-mail: hkantar@eve.assumption.edu

The WEB SITE for B&ESI is:
http://www.assumption.edu/html/Faculty/Kantar/HKA NTAR2.HTML.

* * * * *

Party Politics Graduate Prize

To mark its commitment to promoting the work of young scholars, the journal awards an annual Party Politics prize to the best work submitted to the journal by a graduate student. The winner receives a prize of $250 plus publication of the article in the report section of the journal.

For more details, please contact the editors:

David M. Farrell and Ian Holliday, Department of Government, University of Manchester, Manchester, M13 9PL, UK.

Tel.: +44 161 275 4902/4888
Fax: +44 161 275 4925
E-Mail: David.Farrell@man.ac.uk
E-Mail: Ian.Holliday@man.ac.uk

Kenneth Janda, Department of Political Science, Northwestern University, Evanston, IL 60208, USA.

Tel.: +1 708 491 2634
Fax: +1 708 491 8985
E-Mail: K-janda@nwu.edu

Party Politics is published quarterly by SAGE Publications Ltd, 6 Bonhill Street, London, EC2A 4PU, UK. For more information about the journal contact Louise Harrisy (E-Mail: louise.harrisy@sagepub.co.uk).

* * *

Call for Chapters
"Gender, Immigration and Public Policy"
Debra L. DeLaet and Gregory A. Kelson, editors

The editors are issuing a call for book chapters for a new book project dealing with gender, immigration and public policy. The book will be co-edited by Debra DeLaet of Drake University and Gregory Kelson of the Institute for Women and Children's Policy. One publisher has shown interest in this project and many scholars are very interested. We are seeking chapter proposals that fit within one of the five areas listed below:

I. Determinants of Female International Migration

The basic topic for this section should be why women migrate internationally. Specifically, what conditions are women living under that forces them to seek a better life in other countries? What problems do women have to endure when migrating, and how difficult is it for them to migrate? To what extent does discrimination hinder international migration of women? In this section we will include chapters which explore the ways in which both immigration and emigration policy shape female international migration.

II. Employment Issues

How difficult is it for immigrant women to find employment in their new country? What happens if a family immigrates to a new country, the husband dies, becomes disabled, or leaves his family, and the wife must, for the first time in her life, seek employment to maintain her current standard of living? This section should attempt to answer these questions. Questions about the types of employment that are offered to immigrant and migrant women (e.g., housekeeping, sex trade) should also be explored in this section. This section will also look at policy issues and how they affect how women are treated in their jobs and the types of jobs that are offered.

III. Social Services

This section should deal with the question of social services for immigrant women and their dependent children. Issues such as health care, child care, public schooling for children, and welfare assistance should be explored in great depth. We will need to look at how countries are enacting laws designed to make social services harder for immigrant women to obtain (e.g., Proposition 187 in California). We are anticipating chapters on U.S. policy and would encourage submissions focusing on policy in other countries as well.

IV. Refugee and Asylum Issues

Refugee and asylum issues have always been a subject of debate. Policies that do not recognize certain forms of persecution have stirred controversy for women seeking asylum. There is also the issue of whether or not a woman can apply for asylum in her own right or if she should depend on her husband to apply for her. This section should look at the question of policy concerning the granting of refugee status and how gender affects those policies. This chapter should focus on refugee and asylum issues specifically and not general immigration issues. Submissions should focus on both U.S. and international policy.

V. Future Issues

This section will be a potpourri of other issues that have not made the spotlight in terms of gender and immigration issues but are a "pot waiting to boil over." Chapters within this section should focus on other matters concerning gender and immigration that will not fit into the other four sections.

Chapter proposals should be between two and four pages long. A timetable for submission of final work will be established in the near future. Please send your proposal and a current CV to:

Gregory Kelson
Chicago-Kent College of Law
565 West Adams Street
Chicago, IL 60661-3691.

Deadline for chapter proposals is January 31, 1997.

IN THE JOURNALS / DANS LES REVUES

La revue Politique et Sociétés

La Revue québécoise de science politique, publiée par la Société québécoise de science politique est devenue la revue Politique et Sociétés. Ce changement d'appellation marque une volonté ferme de mieux cerner les rapports État-société et de faire ressortir la dimension comparée trop souvent négligée en science politique.
La revue Politique et Sociétés se veut pluraliste, interdisciplinaire, internationale et ouverte aux débats de l'heure. Politique et Sociétés affirmera sa différence en faisant porter d'abord et avant tout son regard sur la société québécoise. Politique et Sociétés privilégie la science politique comme champ principal d'analyse tout en poursuivant sans relâche sa quête d'une plus grande interdisciplinarité dans les interprétations à donner aux phénomènes politiques et sociaux contemporains. Les domaines de la politique comparée, de l'administration publique, des relations internationales et de la philosophie politique se partagent les pages de la revue. Les préoccupations théoriques, méthodologiques et pratiques viennent alimenter les travaux de nos collaborateurs.

Comme revue scientifique et internationale, nous nous proposons d'ouvrir nos pages à un nombre grandissant de spécialistes du monde francophone, tout en souhaitant publier des contributions de spécialistes ouvrant à l'extérieur de ce bassin naturel. L'élargissement de notre comité scientifique international témoigne de cette volonté. C'est dans cet esprit que de nouveaux liens ont été établis, entre autres, avec des chercheurs de l'Europe centrale, du Proche-Orient, des États-Unis et du Mexique.

Politique et Sociétés
14e année, no. 28
automne 1995

Identités en transition: de la Tchéco-Slovaquie à la Slovaquie
Martin Bútorá (Université Charles de Prague et Université de Trnava) et Zora Bútorová (Centre d'analyse sociale des marchés à Bratislava, Slovaquie)

* * * * *

Canadian and International Education / Éducation Canadienne et Internationale
Vol. 25, no 1
June/juin 1996

A Comparative Look at Values and Rights: What Cultural Differences Can Teach Us
F. Pearl Eliadis (Ontario Human Rights Foundation)

Immigration and Education in Australia: Short-Term Fixes or Long-Term Gains?
Christine Fox and Robyn Iredale (University of Wollongong)

Improving the Management of Universities in Developing Countries
Wayne Ingalls (Mount Saint Vincent University)

Mao Zedong and Deng Xiaoping: A Comparison of Educational Thought
Xiaodong Niu (College of Staten Island - CUNY)

Recent Educational Change in the Czech Republic
Viola Safr and Howard Woodhouse (University of Saskatchewan)

Canadian Foreign Policy / La Politique Étrangère du Canada
Vol. IV, no 1
Special Edition (1996)

The Challenge of Responding to International Migration
Evan H. Potter (Co-Editor, Canadian Foreign Policy/La Politique étrangère canadienne)

How Aid, Trade, and Development Affect Migration
Dane Rowlands (Carleton University) and Ann Weston (North-South Institute)

Kenneth D. Bush (Queen's University)
The Impact of International Migration on Security and Stability
Nazaré Albuquerque Abell (York University)

International Mechanisms for Addressing Migration
Peter J. Stoett (University of Guelph)

New Measures in Conflict Prevention
Keith Martin (Reform Party of Canada)

Canadian Foreign Policy
La Politique Étrangère du Canada
Vol. III, no 3
Winter/hiver 1995

In Search of Niches: Saying "Yes" and Saying "No" in Canada's International Relations
Andrew F. Cooper (University of Waterloo)

Creating a Canadian Foreign Intelligence Service
Alistair S. Hensler (Canadian Security Intelligence Service, retired)

A Case of Misplaced Focus? Reforming the UN's Security Council
Peter J. Stoett (University of Guelph)

Towards a Balanced Approach to Rebuilding War-Torn Societies
Kenneth D. Bush (Queen's University)

Les subventions et les droits compensateurs: de nécessaires améliorations aux dispositions de l'ALENA
Gilbert Gagné (Centre de droit et de politique commerciale)

Trade, Investment and Human Rights
Paul Knox (The Globe and Mail)

Canadian Diplomacy as Advocacy: The Case of Chile and the NAFTA
Glen Bailey (Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade)

Relations Between The European Union and Canada in a Transatlantic Context
Leon Brittan (European Commission)

Democracy, Violence, and Identity in the Zimbabwean War of National Liberation: Reflections from the Realms of Dissent
David Moore

Women of the Jama'a Ansar al-Sunna: Female Participation in a West African Islamic Reform Movement
R.W. Niezen and Barbro Bankson

Canadian Journal of African Studies
Vol. 30, no 1
1996

Wayward Wives, Misfit Mothers, and Disobedient Daughters: "Wicked" Women and the Reconfiguration of Gender in Africa
Dorothy L. Hodgson and Sheryl McCurdy

"My Daughter... Belongs to the Government Now": Marriage, Massai and the Tanzanian State
Dorothy L. Hodgson

Canadian Journal of Development Studies
Vol. XVII, no 2
1996

Canada in the World: Development Assistance in Canada's New Foreign Policy Framework
Martin Rudner (Carleton University)

Impact des programmes d'ajustement structurel sur les effectifs scolaires
Tchabouré-Aimé Gogue (Université du Bénin)

Villagers and Outsiders in Cooperation: Experiences from Development Praxis in the Philippines
Philip Kelly (University of British Colombia)

Development Impeding Institutions: The Political Economy of Haiti
Quentin Grafton (University of Ottawa) and Dane Rowlands (Carleton University)

Appropriate Products in Sustainable Development: Who Uses the WHO List of Essential Drugs?
Robert Kerton (University of Waterloo)
International Municipal Exchange as a Catalyst for South-North Technology and Information Transfer: A Case Study from the Americas
Ted Hewitt (University of Western Ontario)

Relations entre les cultures d'exportation et les cultures vivrières: application aux cas du Sénégal et du Togo
Kossi Tenou (Université de Saint-Louis, Sénégal)

Canadian Journal of Development Studies
Vol. XVII, no 1
1996

Processing and Exporting Raw Materials: A Computable General Equilibrium Analysis of the Indonesian Log and Plywood Industries
Chyi-ling Lin (University of Missouri-Columbia)

Integrated Watershed Management Planning and Information Requirements in Northern Thailand
Philip Dearden (University of Victoria)

Small and Medium Business Under Trade and Exchange Rate Liberalization: Canadian and Latin American Experiences and Concerns
Albert Berry (University of Toronto)

China's Open-Door Policy in Development Perspective
Xiaowen Tian (Australia National University)

La micro et mini-entreprise informelle industrielle dans les grandes villes au Salvador: considérations économiques et financières
Claude Henin (Université d'Ottawa)

Macroeconomic Policies and Problems in Bangladesh During the Mujib Regime (1972-1975)
Akhtar Hossain (University of Newcastle)

Transport public et transport privé à Dakar: de la complémentarité à la concurrence
Patrick Plane (Centre d'études et de recherches sur le développement international, France)

Canadian Journal of Development Studies
Vol. XVII, no 1
1996

Dimitrios Karmis et Alain-G. Gagnon (Université McGill)

The Regulator's Dilemma: Regulation of Pulp Mill Effluents in the Canadian Federal State
Kathryn Harrison (University of British Colombia)

Regionalism, Cabinet Stability and Canada's Electoral System: The Effect of District Magnitude
Neil Sutherland

Two-Level Games and Third-Party Intervention: Evidence from Ethnic Conflict in the Balkans and South Asia
David Carment (Carleton University) and Patrick James (Iowa State University)

Continuity and Change in the 1993 Canadian General Election
Mikael Antony Swayze (University of Toronto)

Canadian Journal of Political Science /
Revue canadienne de science politique
Vol. XXIX, no 2
June / juin 1996

Losing Common Ground: Feminists, Conservatives and Public Policy in Canada during the Mulroney Years
Sylvia Bashevkin (University of Toronto)

Le droit au choix et le choix du Droit: l’expérience de l’Ontario Coalition for Abortion Clinics et le jugement Morgentaler
Martine Perrault et Linda Cardinal (Université d’Ottawa)

The Dynamics of Women's Representation in the Canadian Provinces: 1975-1994
Donley T. Sudlar (West Virginia University) and Richard E. Matland (University of Houston)

William Cross (University of Western Ontario)

Do Canadian Political Parties Form a Cartel?
Heather MacIvor (University of Windsor)

L'état, le citoyen et l'industrie: le cas de la MIUF
James Iain Gow (Université de Montréal)
The Ambivalent Potential of Cultural Identity
Katherine Fierlbeck (Dalhousie University)

Burkean "Descriptions" and Political Representation: A Reappraisal
Melissa S. Williams (University of Toronto)

Hobbes, Harsanyi and the Edge of the Abyss
Gabrielle Slomp (University of Strathclyde) and Manfredi M. A. La Manna (University of St. Andrews)

Postmatérialisme et clivages partisans au Québec: les partis sont-ils différents?
Réjean Pelletier (Université Laval) et Daniel Guérin (Université de Montréal)

Learning and Change in the British Columbia Forest Policy Sector: A Consideration of Sabatier’s Advocacy Coalition Framework
Ken Lertzman (Simon Fraser University), Jeremy Rayner (Malaspina University College) and Jeremy Wilson (University of Victoria)

Putting Ideas in Their Place: A Response to "Learning and Change in the British Columbia Forest Policy Sector"
George Hoberg (University of British Colombia)

On the Place of Ideas: A Reply to George Hoberg
Ken Lertzman (Simon Fraser University), Jeremy Rayner (Malaspina University College) and Jeremy Wilson (University of Victoria)

Organizational Design and Precarious Values: The Rise and Fall of Ontario’s Ministry of Skills Development
Thomas R. Klassen

L'efficacité des programmes d'accès à l'égalité pour les femmes
Yves Chantal Gagnon (École nationale d'administration publique) et Francine Létourneau (Office des ressources humaines, Gouvernement du Québec)

Inside the IMF: Comparisons with Policy-Making Organizations in Canadian Governments
Ian D. Clark (International Monetary Fund)

Reconfigurations du réseau de la santé et des services sociaux au Québec: la place des regroupements interétablissements
Jean Turgeon et Patrick Sabourin (École nationale d'administration publique)

Accountability and Public Administration
R. L. Gagne (Edmonton Regional Group)

Exposing the Chameleon: Response to “Accountability and Public Administration”
J. David Wright (Consulting and Audit Canada)

The Role of Government in Emergency Preparedness
Ron Kuban (Turning Point Consultant Corp.)

Characteristics of an Effective Statistical System
Ivan P. Fellegi (Chief Statistician of Canada)

La double hiérarchisation des postes de direction supérieure dans la fonction publique québécoise
Germain Julien (École nationale d'administration publique)

Gambling Mania: Lessons from the Manitoba Experience
Errol Black (Brandon University)

Les casinos au Québec
Ghislain Fortin (École nationale d'administration publique)

Health-Care Reform in Alberta
Donald J. Philippon (University of Alberta) and Sheila A. Wasylyshyn (Alberta Health)

Policy Analysis as Soulcraft (Review Article)
Leslie A. Pal (Carleton University)
Chinese Women After Beijing: The Impact of the Conference
Wang Jiaxiang

Back from the NGO Forum on Women
Cynthia Lam

Integrating Sectors in the Platform for Action: Relationships for Feminist Action
Dorothy Goldin Rosenberg

Stop Believing the Lies: Canadian Women Demanding Accountability
Kay Anonsen

Stabilization / Structural Adjustment / Restructuring: Canadian Feminist Issues in a Global Framework
Ana Isla, Angela Miles, and Sheila Molley

Un suivi de la quatrième Conférence mondiale sur les femmes à Beijing: La création d’un réseau mondial de groupes de femmes utilisant la langue française comme outil de travail
Annette Pypops

Women's Vision for the Twenty-First Century: Working Towards Mutuality
Mary Soledad Perpinan

Études internationales
Vol. XXVII, no 2
Juin 1996

Les relations internationales de L'après-guerre froide: une mutation globale
Inmero Seminatore (Université Paris 8)

L'unité et la transmission du pouvoir en Chine
Diana Lary (Université de Colombie-Britannique)

Études internationales
Vol. XXVII, no 3
Septembre 1996

Les Quinze à la croisée des chemins. Sur les formes possibles de l’Union Européenne
Lucien-Pierre Bouchard (École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales de Paris)

Gestion de la décroissance et reproduction institutionnelle à l'ONUDI
Daniel A. Holly (UQAM)

La complexité de valeurs dans la politique étrangère de l'administration Reagan face à l'Iran
André Lecours (Université Laval)

La paix américaine pour les Balkans
Reneo Lukic (Université Laval) et Allen Lynch (Université de Virginie)

International Journal
Vol. LV, no 4
Autuma 1996

The Rhetoric of Globalization: What’s in a Wor(l)d?
Claire Turenne Sjolander (University of Ottawa)

Globalization and Other Stories: The Search for a New Paradigm for International Relations
Philip G. Cerny (University of Leeds)
The Politics of Indecision: Canada and the Anglo-American Caribbean Commission, 1941-47
Greg Donaghy (Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade)

Canada in the Americas: Assessing Ottawa’s Behaviour
Gordon Mace and Claude Goulet (Université Laval)

Journal of Canadian Studies
Vol. 31, no 2
Summer, été 1996

Michèle Lacombe

“Not a Feminist But...”: The Political Career of Ellen Louks Fairclough, Canada’s First Female Federal Cabinet Minister
Margaret Conrad (Mount Saint Vincent University)

Le mythe de la “marginalité professionnelle” des ingénieurs francophones du Québec
Robert Gagnon et Yves Gingras (UQAM)

Quantitative Methods, Historical Micro-Data and the Interpretation of Canadian Economic History: An Evaluation
Livio Di Matteo (Lakehead University) and Peter J. George (McMaster University)

Ethics and Socialism: Tensions in the Political Philosophy of J.G. Schurman
Seven A.M. Burns (Trent University)

Restructuring First Nations’ Education: Trust, Respect and Governance
James Ryan (University of Toronto)

Canadian Relief Agencies and Prisoners of War, 1939-45
Jonathan Vance (Wilfred Laurier University)

Whither Sustainable Development? (Introduction)
Ted Schrecker (Westminster Institute for Ethics and Human Values)

Sustainability and the Dis-integration of Conservation and Development in the Northwest Atlantic Fishery
Raymond A. Rogers (York University)

Partenariat public-privé et développement durable: l’exemple des politiques urbaines
Pierre Hamel et Jean-Guy Vaillancourt (Université de Montréal)

Sustainability and Historical Injustice: Lessons from the Moose River Basin
Wesley Cragg (York University) and Mark Schwartz (Barrister and Solicitor General, Province of Ontario)

Implementing Sustainability in West Coast Forests: CORE and FEMAT as Experiments in Process
Jeremy Rayner (Malaspina University College)

Not Directly Affected: Using the Law to Close the Door on Environmentalists
Joan Sherman, Michael Gismondi and Mary Richardson (Athabaska University)

Strategic Lawsuits and Environmental Politics: Daishowa Inc. v Friends of the Lubicon Chris Tollefson (University of Victoria)

Pacific Affairs
Vol. 69, no 2
Summer 1996

Canada-Japan Trade in an Asia-Pacific Context
Terry Ursacki (University of Calgary) and Ilan Vertinsky (University of British Colombia)

The Political Economy of Regional Cooperation in the South Pacific
Kishore C. Dash (East-West Center, Honolulu)

The Idea of Freedom in Burma and the Political Thought of Daw Aung San Suu Kyi
Josef Silverstein (Rutgers University)

Family and Household Structure in Vietnam: Some Glimpses from a Recent Survey
Charles Hirschman and Vu Manh Loi (University of Washington, Seattle)
Pacific Affairs
Vol. 69, no 1
Spring 1996

South Korea's Foreign Policy and Future Security: Implications of the Nuclear Standoff
Mel Gurtov (Portland State University)

Russia Policy on Korean Unification in the Post-Cold War Era
Seung-Ho Jo (University of Minnesota)

The New Japanese Election System
Raymond Christensen (University of Kansas)

Economic Implication of the U.S.-ASEAN Discourse on Human Rights
Stephen A. Douglas and Sara U. Douglas (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign)

Policy Options Politiques
Vol. 17, no 6
July-August/Juillet-Août 1996

Experts Tackle the Unemployment Dilemma: An Overview of Contributions
Monique Jérôme-Forget (IRPP)

Subsidize Employment
Edmund S. Phelps (Columbia University)

Assessing Recent Experience
W. Craig Riddell (UBC)

Public Policy in a World of Market Failure
John Myles (Florida State University)

The Causes of High Unemployment
Paul Krugman (MIT)

Des remèdes au chômage structurel?
Claude Forget

Creating Jobs in the Service Sector
Jacques Bughin (McKinsey & Company)

Three Stories about UI and Canada-U.S. Unemployment Rates
Miles Corak (Statistics Canada)

Do Minimum Wages Really Matter?
Dwayne Benjamin (University of Toronto)

The Distribution of Earnings and Income in Canada
Charles M. Beach (Queen's University) and George A. Slotsve (Northern Illinois University)

How to Cut Unemployment
Richard Layard (London School of Economics)

Le partage du travail: une panacée?
Robert Lacroix (Université de Montréal)

Youth Unemployment in Britain
Kenneth Roberts (University of Liverpool)

Can Training Reduce Unemployment?
Derek Hum and Wayne Simpson (University of Manitoba)

Turning Globalization into Local Jobs
Rosabeth Moss Kanter (Harvard Business School)

Le chômage et le travail au noir
Thomas Lemieux (Université de Montréal)

Restructuring and Unemployment
Morley Gunderson (University of Toronto)

Rehabilitating the Public Sector
Alice Nakamura (University of Alberta)

Looking for Jobs on the East Coast
Donald Savoie (Canadian Institute for Research on Regional Development)

Queen's Quarterly
Vol. 103, no 1
Spring 1996

War Without Hatred
Anatol Rapoport (University of Toronto)

Three Visions of Future War
Colin Gray (University of Hull, England)

The Future of War: Armageddon 101
Stanislav Kirschbaum (York University)

Madrid 1936 - Sarajevo 1996
Juan Goytisolo

The Life and Times of François Mitterrand
John Hellman (McGill University)
One Year into a Revolution?
Raymond Chrétien (Canadian Ambassador to the U.S.)

Studies in Political Economy
No 50
Summer 1996

The Dilemma of Liberal Citizenship: Women and Social Assistance Reform in the 1990s
Katherine Scott (York University)

Depoliticising Insurgency: The Politics of the Family in Alberta
Lois Harder (York University)

The Continuing Crisis of Social Democracy: Ontario's Social Contract in Perspective
Stephen McBride (Simon Fraser University)

Preston Manning's Populism: Constructing the Common Sense of the Common People
Steve Patten (York University)

Refugee Policy: Globalization, Radical Challenge, or State Control?
Tanya Basok (University of Windsor)

The Coordination of Investments in a Market Economy: Comments on a Revitalized Marxist Theme Nicolai J. Foss (Copenhagen Business School)

A Response to Professor Foss
Fikret Adaman (Bogazici University in Istanbul) and Pat Devine (University of Manchester)

ANNOUNCEMENTS / ANNONCES DIVERSES

Humanities and Social Sciences Federation of Canada/Fédération canadienne des sciences humaines et sociales: Launching of "Career Vision"

The Humanities and Social Sciences Federation of Canada (HSSFC) and Human Resources Development Canada (HRDC) have launched a pilot program to demonstrate the value and pertinence of a social science and humanities education to employers.

Career Vision is designed to match young graduates in these disciplines with prospective employers. The graduates will work for a minimum of 26 weeks in jobs related to their field of study. Employers will pay only 50 per cent of their salary in this period. HRDC will pay the other 50 per cent under the Youth Experience component of the Youth Internship Canada (YIC) program.

"We want to accomplish three objectives," said Dr. Gregory Kealey, co-president of the Federation. "First, we want to give graduates pertinent employment in their field for at least 26 weeks. Ideally, we'd like to see the graduates continue in their jobs beyond the program period. But even if this doesn't happen, our second objective will be met -- the graduates will acquire meaningful experience that will make them more attractive to other prospective employers. And finally, we want to validate the importance of the social science and humanities education in the modern workforce. There seems to be a prevailing perception that graduates from these fields are somehow not as employable as their technical counterparts. The careers of many public and private sector leaders would challenge this. We believe this program will, too."

The pilot program will focus on two sectors -- health and environment. Graduates from the University of Calgary, York University and Université du Québec à Montréal will be matched with a variety from for-profit and non-profit enterprises in the environment sector. The University of Victoria, Memorial University of Newfoundland and the University of Ottawa will identify candidates for jobs in the health sector. Each university will provide ten participants. To be eligible, candidates must be recent graduates of these universities with a bachelor, masters or doctoral degree and must be currently either unemployed or underemployed.

"We targeted these two sectors because economic forecasts suggest they will be strong sectors for growth", said Dr. John Scott, co-president of the Federation. "It shouldn't take too much imagination for employers to determine how to benefit from this program. Political science graduates can be put to work doing research and drafting policy documents while philosophy grads with backgrounds in bio-ethics can research the implications for society of new products from the bio-medical industry. English graduates are excellent communicators whose skills can be used in advocacy or sales programs. Career Vision will give employers an excellent occasion to draw from a highly talented resource pool of graduates and will also offer significant financial benefits. It's a program where everybody wins."

Career Vision will be recruiting both employers and graduates in the coming weeks.

The Federation represents 54 learned societies in the humanities and social sciences disciplines and 69 universities and colleges.

For further information, please contact the Program Manager, Suzanne Dagenais.

Telephone: (613) 238-6112 extension 304
Fax: (613) 236-4853
E-mail: dagenais@hssfc.ca
Internet: http://www.hssfc.ca

---

Preliminary Program for the 1997 Annual Convention of the International Studies Association in Toronto

Thanks to the hard work of the Program Co-Chairs, Mark Boyer and Louis Pauly, as well as the efforts of the ISA HQ staff, the Preliminary Program for the 1997 Annual Convention of the International Studies Association in Toronto, March 18-22, is now available on the web. You can access the program from the ISA main webpage at its new URL, http://www.isanet.org (the old URL, http://csf.colorado.edu/isa/, still works). You can also access the main web page for the convention itself at http://csf.colorado.edu/isa/toronto/toronto-conf.html.

---

Academic Exchange

Professor Ian Kearns from the Department of Political Science at the University of Sheffield, U.K., hopes to arrange an academic exchange for the 1997/98 teaching year.

Professor Kearns is seeking someone working in the areas of international politics and comparative politics, though his department is flexible in terms of the courses which anyone interested in an exchange may be able to teach.

For more information, contact:

Professor Ian Kearns
The Department of Political Science
The University of Sheffield
Elmfield, Northumberland Road
Sheffield, S10 2TU
U.K.

Telephone: 114 2824736
Fax: 114 2739769
E-Mail: I.P.Kearns@Sheffield.ac.uk

---

1997 Carrie Chapman Catt Center for Research on the Subject of Women and Politics

The Carrie Chapman Catt Center for Women and Politics at Iowa State University announces the competition for the 1997 Carrie Chapman Catt Prize for Research on the Subject of Women and Politics. Awards will be granted to scholars embarking on significant research in the area of women and politics. The prize includes a $1,000 award and travel expenses to Ames, Iowa, where prizes will be awarded on February 28-March 1. Prize recipients will present an overview of their research at the Center's 5th Annual Spring Conference titled "Looking Back / Looking Forward: Women's Voices, Victories, and Visions."

Eligibility: Scholars at any level may apply, including graduate students and junior faculty members.

Applications: Applications must include a curriculum vitae and a detailed description of the research project. The aims of the research, its relationship to previous work in the field, methodology employed, and a timetable for completion should be part of the description. In addition, the letter of application should outline the researcher’s professional interests and experiences relating to the project.

Additional requirements: Winners of the Carrie Chapman Catt prize for Research on the Subject of Women and Politics are to acknowledge their honour when their research results are published and to transmit to the Center one copy of (each of) the publication(s) for the Center’s archives.

Deadline: The application deadline is December 13, 1996. Awards will be announced February 3, 1997. For further information, please contact Dr. Dianne Bystrom, Director, Carrie Chapman Catt Center at (515) 294-3181, or dbystrom@iastate.edu. Send applications to the Carrie Chapman Catt Research Prize, Iowa State University, Carrie Chapman Catt Center, 309 Carrie Chapman Catt Hall, Ames, IA 50011-1305. Fax: (515) 294-3741.

---

The Imperial Oil and Lincoln-McKay Chair in American Studies

The University of Calgary invites applications and nominations for an endowed position from prominent scholars actively engaged in Social Sciences research on the United States. The Chairholder’s research should lead to a broader understanding of the United States by Canada.

The Chairholder is expected to pursue independent research, supervise graduate students and teach part-time at the graduate and/or undergraduate level in the Department appropriate to one’s disciplinary interest. Research and teaching interests normally should fall within one of the Social Sciences. There are nine disciplines in the Social Sciences at The University of Calgary: Anthropology, Archaeology, Economics, Geography, History, Linguistics, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology.

In accordance with Canada’s immigration requirements, priority will be given to Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada. The University of Calgary is committed to Employment Equity.

Applications should be submitted by February 1, 1997 to:

Dr. Cooper H. Langford
Vice-President (Research)
The University of Calgary
2500 University Drive N.W.

---

CPSA Women’s Caucus Listserv Now Available

Women members of the CPSA can join an electronic network to discuss issues relevant to women within the discipline. To join, E-mail the CPSA at : cpsa@csse.ca. In the body of the message request to join the women’s caucus network, and include your full name and affiliation (University or otherwise). Only women members of the CPSA will be permitted to join.

(This new list replaces the previous list, called womengenetics.)

---

Publications disponibles au Laboratoire d’études politiques de l’Université Laval

For more information, please contact:
Dean's Office, Faculty of Graduate Studies
The University of Calgary, Alberta, T2N 1N4
Fax: (403) 289-7635
E-Mail: 22018@UCDASVM1.ADMIN.UCALGARY.CA or visit our Website http://www.ucalgary.ca/~osnhc

"War Finance and Reconstruction: The Role of Canada's Department of Finance, 1939-1946" now available

David Slater would like to inform the readers of the Bulletin of the availability of a limited edition of the following book:

War Finance and Reconstruction: The Role of Canada’s Department of Finance, 1939-1946
by David W. Slater with two chapters by R.B. Bryce

As the costs of editing and printing have been covered, the book can be made available for the costs of handling and distribution. Copies can be obtained from David W. Slater, 199 Crocus Ave., Ottawa, Ontario, K1H 6E7. Costs of mailing and handling: $5.00 Cdn, by cheque or money order. A limited number of mimeographed end notes are available for an additional $3.00 mailing and handling.

University of Maryland at College Park
Sadat Chair Announcement

The Department of Government and Politics at the University of Maryland, College Park, in conjunction with its Center for International Development and Conflict Management, is pleased to announce the establishment of the Anwar Sadat Chair for Population, Development, and Peace. The Sadat Professor will direct a major program of research and outreach to the scholarly and policy making communities, designed to promote strategies to effect peace in troubled regions of the world plagued by protracted conflict. Through its sponsorship of research, conferences, seminars and public policy forums both within the U.S. and abroad, the Sadat Chair will be dedicated to scholarly and policy relevant analysis.
The Sadat Chair was established at the University of Maryland through the efforts of Mrs. Jehan Sadat and an international advisory board of prominent statesmen, scholars and admirers of President Sadat who wished to help promote the ideals for which Anwar Sadat worked and ultimately gave his life. The Chair will be housed in the department's Center for International Development and Conflict Management, internationally recognized for its work on protracted conflict resolution. The Sadat Chair will work closely with other Center programs which include the Baha'i Chair for World Peace, the Global Events Data Set, and the Minorities at Risk/Early Warning project.

The Sadat Chair professor will hold a tenured professorial appointment in the Department and must have a superior international reputation in areas such as international and communal conflict, political and economic development, and demographic aspects of international politics. The appointee will also have recognized expertise in a particular region of the world, with preference given to the Middle East. Outstanding academic credentials and/or extensive and high level policy experience will be considered important prerequisites for consideration. In establishing the Sadat Chair at the University of Maryland at College Park, the premier public research university in the Washington area, the donors were conscious of the important links which this campus maintains with the policy community. Thus, in addition to seeking an individual who gives evidence of the prospect of sustained and high level activity in his/her professional field, the Department seeks a person who will be able to interact effectively with the Washington policy community.

Finally, the Department seeks a dynamic person willing to make a professional and personal commitment to promoting the purposes of the Department and the Center.

Inquiries concerning the Sadat Chair may be addressed to Professor Jonathan Wilkenfield, Chair, Sadat Chair Search Committee, Department of Government and Politics, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland, 20742. Telephone: (301) 405-4160. Fax: (301) 314-9690. E-Mail: jwilken@bss2.umd.edu. The Search Committee will be assisted by a 15-member International Advisory Committee for the Sadat Chair, chaired by Mrs. Jehan Sadat. The search will be international in scope, with the appointment to begin in August 1997. For best consideration, candidates should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, list of at least three references, and other relevant materials by December 31, 1996.

The CPSA has established a homepage on the World Wide Web. Located at the Institute for Governance Studies in the Department of Political Science at Simon Fraser University, the homepage provides general information on the CPSA; e-mail addresses for CPSA Executive members; information on the AGM including the call for papers; information on Canadian Journal of Political Science including abstracts and tables of contents of forthcoming articles and subscription and advertising rates; information on the CPSA POLCAN electronic maillist and an archive of POLCAN correspondence; and links to other regional and national political science associations, publisher's catalogues, reference works, and sources of interest to political scientists from around the world.

The homepage is located at URL: http://www.sfu.ca/igs/CPSA.html. It is maintained by Michael Howlett of the Department of Political Science, Simon Fraser University (e-mail “howlett@sfu.ca”).
Parliamentary Internship Programme
Programme de stage parlementaire
A Programme of the Canadian Political Science Association
Un Programme de l’Association canadienne de science politique

1997-1998

For the 1996-97 year, the Programme’s main Sponsors are:

- Stentor Telecom Policy Inc. (Level IV); Canadian Airlines International, Canadian Bankers Association, Canadian Cable Television Association, The Canadian Life and Health Insurance Association, The Co-operators, The Insurance Bureau of Canada, (Level III); and the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (Special Administrative Sponsor).

PROGRAMME

This work-study Programme has a threefold aim. It provides backbench Members of Parliament with highly qualified assistants. It gives university graduates an opportunity to supplement their theoretical knowledge of Parliament with first hand experience of the day-to-day work of the Members and of Parliament. The graduates of the Programme are better able to make a significant contribution to Canadian public life.

Following an orientation period, the interns’ responsibilities include working with Members of the House of Commons on both sides, conducting scholarly research dealing with Parliament, and undertaking study travel. We expect to offer 10 internships for 1997 - 1998.

ELIGIBILITY

The internship Programme is open to Canadian citizens who are recent graduates of a university and have an interest in Parliament. The Programme is open to students of any discipline.

TENURE & INCOME

From September 1997 for a period of 10 months.
Estimated $15,500 plus travel subsidies.

APPLICATION DEADLINE

Completed applications must be received or (if mailed) postmarked no later than THE LAST FRIDAY OF JANUARY, 1997.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION AND APPLICATION FORMS, WRITE TO:

Parliamentary Internship Programme
c/o The Canadian Political Science Association
#205 - 1 Stewart Street
Ottawa, Ontario
K1N 6H7

Telephone: (613) 564-7550
Fax: (613) 230-2746
e-mail: pip@csse.ca

All candidates must fill in the application form
Programme de stage parlementaire
Parliamentary Internship Programme

Un Programme de l'Association canadienne de science politique
A Programme of the Canadian Political Science Association

1997-1998

En 1996-1997 les principaux commanditaires du programme sont :

Stentor politiques publiques Télécom Inc. (niveau IV); l’Association des banquiers canadiens, l’Association canadienne de télévision par câble, l’Association canadienne des compagnies d’assurances de personnes, Le Bureau d’Assurance du Canada, les Co-operators, les lignes Canadiens internationales (niveau III); et le Conseil de recherches en sciences humaines du Canada (parrain administratif spécial).

PROGRAMME

Ce programme de travail et d’étude vise un triple objectif. Fournir aux député(e)s d’arrière-ban des adjoint(e)s hautement qualifié(e)s. Donner à des diplômé(e)s d’université la possibilité de compléter leurs connaissances théoriques des institutions parlementaires par une expérience pratique des activités quotidiennes des député(e)s et du fonctionnement du Parlement. Permettre aux participant(e)s de mieux contribuer par la suite à la vie publique canadienne.

CONDITIONS D’ADMISSIBILITÉ

Avoir la citoyenneté canadienne, être récemment diplômé(e) d’une université et avoir un intérêt pour la politique canadienne. Ce concours est ouvert aux diplômé(e)s de toutes les disciplines.

DURÉE & TRAITEMENT

À compter de septembre 1997 pour une durée de 10 mois. 15 500 $ plus frais de déplacement.

DATE LIMITE D’INSCRIPTION

Les personnes intéressées doivent faire parvenir leur dossier de candidature au plus tard LE DERNIER VENDREDI DE JANVIER 1997, le cachet de la poste faisant foi.

POUR OBTENIR DES RENSEIGNEMENTS SUPPLÉMENTAIRES ET DES FORMULAIRES DE CANDIDATURE, ÉCRIRE AU :

Programme de stage parlementaire
a/s de L’Association canadienne de science politique
1, rue Stewart, pièce 205
Ottawa (Ontario)
K1N 6H7

Téléphone : (613) 564-7550
Courrier-électronique : pip@csse.ca

Tou(te)s les candidat(e)s doivent remplir un formulaire de candidature...
The Canadian Political Science Association, in collaboration with the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario, announces the twenty-second competition for the Ontario Legislature Internship Programme.

PROGRAMME
The Programme is designed to provide backbench members of the Legislative Assembly with highly qualified assistants. By giving the Interns practical experience in the day to day work of the Legislature, it provides them with the opportunity to supplement their academic training.

Following an orientation period, Interns are assigned specific responsibilities with individual members of the Legislative Assembly. The academic portion of the Programme involves seminars and the preparation of a paper dealing with some aspect of the legislative process in Ontario.

OLIP has always been supported by a substantial annual grant from the Legislative Assembly through the all-party Board of Internal Economy. However, private donations have been an important element in OLIP financing. Recent sponsors include: Bell Ontario, Burstyn Jeffery Inc., Consumer’s Gas, Co-operator’s Insurance, Dominion of Canada General Insurance, Falconbridge, GlaxoWellcome Canada, Hill and Knowlton, Inco, the Insurance Bureau of Canada, Imperial Oil, the Jackman Foundation, KPMG, the Ole Evirnude Foundation, the Ontario Real Estate Association, SAMCI and Union Gas. As well, OLIP has received donations from private individuals, including a number of former interns.

ELIGIBILITY
The Internships are open to recent graduates of Canadian universities who have an interest in and knowledge of the legislative process or politics in Ontario.

STIPEND
$16,000 for the period from September 1, 1997 to June 30, 1998. We anticipate offering 8 Internships for 1997-98.

APPLICATION PROCESS
Applicants must submit a completed application form and arrange for letters of reference and transcripts to be sent to the Programme Office. Applications sent by fax will not be accepted.

APPLICATION DEADLINE
Completed applications must be received no later than January 24, 1997.

DISCLAIMER
OLIP is entirely contingent upon funding outside the control of the CPSA. If at any time this support is withdrawn, without adequate notice to the CPSA, we may not be able to operate the Programme in its entirety. The CPSA assumes no liability for any loss or damage should this occur.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION, AND APPLICATION FORMS, WRITE:

Dr Robert J. Williams, Director
Ontario Legislature Internship Programme
c/o Department of Political Science
University of Waterloo
Waterloo, Ontario N2L 3G1
Tel: (519) 888 - 4557 extension 5682
e-mail: OLIP@watarts.uwaterloo.ca url: http://arts.uwaterloo.ca/~olip/olip.html
Planning Secretariat

Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada

announces the fifth annual competition for

The Jules Léger Fellowship

The Fellowship will allow a scholar to spend a minimum of four and maximum of twelve months with the Planning Secretariat, assessing the implications for Canada of particular international trends or developments. The awards are intended to provide Fellows with direct experience in government as well as to bring a wider set of perspectives to bear in the preparation of policy advice.

Eligibility

Fellowships are open to Canadian researchers who have an excellent record of research and publications in areas of interest to DFAIT. A security clearance will be required. Fellows who have access to classified materials will also be required to sign an undertaking with the Department.

Selection Criteria

Candidates will be judged on their academic and professional qualifications, and on the relevance of their research proposal to current Department interests. A short-list based on these criteria will be prepared by a selection committee. Candidates may be interviewed as part of the selection process. If the selected Fellow intends to stay less than six months, a second Fellowship may be awarded by the Department for the remaining period of time.

Award

Fellows may be awarded assistance for travel and expenses depending on needs.

Application Information

The deadline for applications is January 31, 1997. Candidates should submit a curriculum vitae, a set of transcripts, two letters of recommendation, and a short research proposal (approximately five pages), and should indicate the number of months they would want to spend with the Planning Secretariat. Fellows would normally be expected to begin their terms, in Ottawa, between September 1997 and January 1998 although exceptions may be made for Fellowships of less than six months duration.

Applications should be sent by mail or fax to:

The Jules Léger Fellowship
Planning Secretariat (CPD)
Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada
Lester B. Pearson Building
125 Sussex Drive
Ottawa K1A 0G2

Facsimile (613) 944-0687
Telephone (613) 944-0378

The Planning Secretariat serves to apply a broad, critical and detached perspective to foreign policy issues from within Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada. The Secretariat is responsible to Deputy Ministers for providing advice on the overall direction of Canadian foreign and trade policy, for strategic planning, and for handling particular issues that require co-ordination among a number of offices.
Le Secrétariat de la planification
du ministère des Affaires étrangères et du Commerce international Canada annonce la tenue du cinquième concours annuel en vue de l'attribution de la bourse Jules Léger

La bourse permettra à un spécialiste de se joindre au Secrétariat de la planification, pour une période allant de quatre à douze mois, afin d'étudier les conséquences que peuvent avoir pour le Canada des tendances ou des événements particuliers survenant sur la scène internationale. L'objectif est de procurer aux boursiers une expérience directe des rouages du gouvernement et de faire intervenir un plus vaste ensemble de perspectives dans l'élaboration des politiques. Le boursier aura accès aux diverses facilités offertes par le Ministère et pourra profiter d'une occasion unique de travailler en étroite collaboration avec les planificateurs de la politique extérieure.

Admissibilité

La bourse est offerte aux chercheurs canadiens avec un dossier de recherche et publication étoffé dans les domaines qui peuvent être d'intérêt pour le ministère. Les boursiers ayant accès à des documents classifiés, une autorisation de sécurité devra être obtenue.

Critères de sélection

Les candidats seront jugés sur la base i) de leurs compétences universitaires et professionnelles et ii) de la pertinence de leur projet de recherche quant aux intérêts du Canada. Une liste restreinte sera établie par un comité de sélection. Le Secrétariat de la planification se réserve le droit de convoquer en entrevue les candidats portés sur la liste. Si le candidat choisi prévoit passer moins de six mois au ministère, il se peut qu'une deuxième bourse soit attribuée.

Allocation

Les boursiers pourraient avoir accès à un soutien financier pour leurs déplacements en cas de besoin.

Inscription

La date limite pour le dépôt des candidatures est le 31 janvier 1997. Les candidats devront joindre à la demande leur curriculum vitae, leur dossier de scholarité, deux lettres de recommandation, et un court projet de recherche (approximativement cinq pages). Ils devront aussi indiquer le nombre de mois qu'ils envisagent de passer au sein du Secrétariat de la planification. Les boursiers devront normalement prendre leurs fonctions au ministère, à Ottawa, entre le mois de septembre 1997 et le mois de janvier 1998. Toutefois, il pourra être fait exception à cette règle pour les bourses d'une durée inférieure à six mois.

Les candidatures devront être expédiées à l'adresse suivante, par la poste ou par télécopieur :

Bourse Jules Léger
Secrétariat de la planification (CPD)
Ministère des Affaires étrangères et du Commerce international Canada
Édifice Lester B. Pearson
125, promenade Sussex
Ottawa K1A 0G2

Télécopieur : (613) 944-0687
Téléphone : (613) 944-0378

Au sein du ministère des Affaires étrangères et du Commerce international Canada, le Secrétariat de la planification porte un regard ample, critique et objectif sur les questions de politique extérieure. Il a pour mandat de conseiller les sous-ministres sur l'orientation générale de la politique étrangère du Canada et sur la planification stratégique ainsi que de coordonner le traitement de questions particulières entre plusieurs bureaux générales.
Planning Secretariat
Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada
announces the fifth annual competition for
The Norman Robertson Fellowship and
The Marcel Cadieux Fellowship

Each Fellowship will allow one or more scholars to spend a minimum of three and a maximum of six months with the Planning Secretariat assessing the implications for Canada of particular international trends or developments. The awards are intended to provide Fellows with direct experience in government as well as to bring a wider set of perspectives to bear in the preparation of policy advice.

Eligibility
Fellowships are open to Canadian citizens who have completed an M.Phil. or Ph.D. within the past five years or are at an advanced stage of doctoral research. The competition is open to scholars in all disciplines, although the Cadieux and Robertson Fellows will be expected to focus respectively on the political and economic-trade dimensions of policy. A security clearance will be required.

Selection Criteria
Candidates will be judged on the basis of (i) their academic and professional qualifications, and (ii) the relevance to Canadian interests of their research proposals. A short-list based on these criteria will be prepared by a selection committee. Candidates may be interviewed as part of the selection process.

Award
Fellows will be awarded a stipend of $2000-$2500 per month, depending on qualifications, for a maximum of six months.

Application Information
The deadline for applications is January 31, 1997. Candidates should submit a curriculum vitae, a complete set of transcripts, two letters of recommendation and a research proposal, and should indicate the number of months they would want to spend in the Planning Secretariat. Fellows would normally be expected to begin their terms, in Ottawa, between August and October, 1997, although exceptions may be made for Fellowships of less than six months duration.

Applications should be sent by mail or fax to:

Cadieux & Robertson Fellowships
Planning Secretariat (CPD)
Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada
Lester B. Pearson Building
125 Sussex Drive
Ottawa K1A 0G2

Facsimile (613) 944-0887
Telephone (613) 944-0378

The Planning Secretariat serves to apply a broad, critical and detached perspective to foreign policy issues from within Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada. The Secretariat is responsible to Deputy Ministers for providing advice on the overall direction of Canadian foreign and trade policy, for strategic planning, and for handling particular issues that require co-ordination among a number of offices.
Le Secrétariat de la planification
du ministère des Affaires étrangères et du Commerce international Canada

annonce la tenue du cinquième concours annuel en vue de l’attribution de la bourse Norman Robertson et de la bourse Marcel Cadieux

Chacune de ces bourses permettra à un ou plusieurs spécialistes de se joindre au Secrétariat de la planification, pour une période allant de trois à six mois, afin d’évaluer les conséquences que peuvent avoir pour le Canada des tendances ou des événements particuliers survenant sur la scène internationale. L’objectif est de procurer aux boursiers une expérience directe des rouages du gouvernement et de faire intervenir un plus vaste ensemble de perspectives dans l’élaboration des politiques.

Admissibilité

Les bourses sont offertes aux citoyens canadiens qui ont obtenu leur M.Phil. ou leur doctorat au cours des cinq dernières années ou qui sont parvenus à un stade avancé de leur thèse de recherche doctoral. Le concours est ouvert aux spécialistes de toutes les disciplines, même si les boursiers Cadieux et Robertson devront se concentrer respectivement sur les aspects politique et économique de la politique étrangère. Une autorisation de sécurité devra être obtenue.

Critères de sélection

Les candidats seront jugés sur la base i) de leurs compétences universitaires et professionnelles et ii) de la partance de leur proposition de recherche quant aux intérêts du Canada. Une liste restreinte sera établie par un comité de sélection. Le Secrétariat de la planification se réserve le droit de convoquer en entrevue les candidats portés sur la liste.

Allocation

Les boursiers recevront une allocation mensuelle de 2000 à 2500 $, selon leurs compétences, jusqu’à concurrence de six mois.

Inscription

La date limite pour le dépôt des demandes est le 31 janvier, 1997. Les candidats devront joindre à la demande leur curriculum vitae, leur dossier complet de scolarité, deux lettres de recommandation et une proposition de recherche. Ils devront aussi indiquer le nombre de mois qu’ils envisagent de passer au sein du Secrétariat de la planification. Les boursiers devront normalement prendre leurs fonctions, à Ottawa, entre le mois d’août et le mois d’octobre 1997. Toutefois, il pourra être fait exception à cette règle pour les bourses d’une durée inférieure à six mois.

Les demandes devront être expédiées à l’adresse suivante, par la poste ou par télécopieur :

Bourses Cadieux et Robertson
Secrétariat de la planification (CPD)
Ministère des Affaires étrangères et du Commerce international Canada
Édifice Lester B. Pearson
125, promenade Sussex
Ottawa K1A 0G2

Télécopieur : (613) 944-0687
Téléphone : (613) 944-0378

Au sein du ministère des Affaires étrangères et du Commerce international Canada, le Secrétariat de la planification porte un regard ample, critique et objectif sur les questions de politique extérieure. Il a pour mandat de conseiller les sous-ministres sur l’orientation générale de la politique étrangère du Canada et sur la planification stratégique ainsi que de coordonner le traitement de questions particulières entre plusieurs bureaux générales.